BRITISH R. R. STRIKE IS ENDED AFTER CONFERENCE WITH PRIME MINISTER

LONDON, Oct. 6.—With dramatic suddenness in the quiet, of the London Sunday afternoon it was announced to a group of persons waiting in Downing street that the great railway strike, which appeared to have brought the country, almost to the brink of revolution, was settled, and that the strikers would resume work as quickly as possible.

The official terms of settlement which are in the nature of a compromise, are as follows:

"First—Work shall be resumed immediately.

"Second—Negotiations will be resumed on the understanding that they shall be completed before the end of the year.

"Wages To Be Stabilized.

"Third—Wages will be stabilized as the present level until September 30, 1920, and at any time after August 1, they may be reviewed in the light of circumstances then existing.

"Fourth—No adult railway man in Great Britain shall receive less than fifty-one shillings a week while the cost of living is 110 per cent above the pre-war level.

"Fifth—The railway union agree that their men will work harmoniously with the men who returned to work or who remained at work during the strike. There shall be no victimization of strikers.

"Sixth—Arrears of wages will be paid on resumption of work."

The settlement was the result of a long conference to-day between a trade union delegation including representatives of the Railway Men's Union, and Premier Lloyd George and Andrew Bonar Law, in the famous conference room in Downing Street. Prior to this there was a Cabinet meeting.

Moderate Efforts Lauded.

"It was conceded on all sides that the settlement is the outcome of the moderate, but determined, efforts of the executive of the Transport Workers' Federation and men like Arthur Henderson and John Robert Clynes, who throughout have set their faces steadily against the idea of a sympathetic strike until every possible avenue of mediation had been explored.

The public of Great Britain, particularly the inhabitants of London, long will remember the past ten days as their most remarkable experience, apart from the war. Nothing except air raids had disorganized the normal life of the country to such an extent.

The most striking change to the eye was that the population and the traffic of London seemed suddenly to have doubled, owing to the fact that nearly all travel and freight traffic, which usually are borne by railways, were thrown into the streets.

Secretary Is Cheered.

James Henry Thomas secretary of the National Union of Railway Men, received a tremendous ovation when he appeared to address about 5,000 men in Albert Hall. It was an impressive moment when, after the hurricane of cheering subsided, the audience rose and sang "Abide with Me."

Secretary Thomas, in his speech, paid a warm tribute to the "great and worthy part" the Premier had played in having assisted them to reach what Mr. Thomas would not call as victory but as "an honorable settlement." It was the Premier who had invited the deputation to see him today, and there had been no question whatever of asking the men to surrender.

Secretary Thomas claimed that this had been the greatest fight of organized workers in history and that it had been conducted solidly, loyally, peaceably and orderly, and in this he believed, the railway men had given an example to the world.

RUN HALF FORCE.

STEBENVILLE, O., Oct. 6.—The mills of the Weirton Steel company, at Weirton, W. Va., resumed operations this morning and are running 50 per cent, according to General Manager John C. Williams, of the Weirton Steel company. The Weirton mills were down last week.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
COMISKY PARK, Chi., Oct. 6.—Cincinnati won the fifth game of the world's series from the Chicago Americans here today by a score of 5 to 0. Eller's pitching for the visitors was almost a perfect exhibition of twirling skill. He allowed the American Leaguers three hits scattered into as many innings, retired nine of them by the strike-out route and was himself in the plays in the sixth inning that netted Cincinnati 4 runs. In this round he got a double and by good base running landed on third. The support accorded him by his team mates was flawless.

On the other hand Williams, while he allowed but four hits, was slightly wild, his team mates did not support him as well as the Reds supported Eller and the visitors succeeded in getting hits off him at an opportune moment. The series now stands Cincinnati four won, one lost; Chicago one won, four lost.

COMISKY PARK, CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—With the rays of the sun becoming stronger each minute the fifth game of the world's championship baseball series gave promise of being played in weather only a little short of what experts agree upon as ideal, for baseball. The playing field was rapidly drying out from the drenching it experienced yesterday, although it is hardly probable that the base lines from the plate to first and third bases will be quite as fast as they were on Friday and Saturday. The tarpaulins were placed over the field in abundance Saturday night and were not removed until this morning.

At noon the bleachers and pavilion crowd was by no means as large as they were two hours before the game time on Friday or Saturday. The bands, however, were on hand early while the elaborate decorations seemed to be none the worse as the result of yesterday's down-pour. The rain of yesterday cost the players on both clubs money. As the fifth game is the last which they will share and as it was a certainty that yesterday's attendance, could the game have been played, would have been several thousand in excess of what today's crowd will amount to, the players will be correspondingly out their percentage of this difference.

The Reds were the first to appear today coming on the field at 12:55 p. m. Owing to a slight chill in the air the majority of them wore black sweaters. The Sox appeared two minutes later and were given an ovation by the bleachers. The Sox took the field and began their batting practice. Eller and Luque immediately began warming up for the Reds by tossing to Wingo.

Sullivan, a left hander, threw the balls to the Sox batters while Kerr warmed up on the sidelines.

"Lefty" Williams took his regular place in the batting order during practice. Eller stopped pitching after a ten minute workout and joined the squad that were practicing on bunts.

The Reds took the field at 1:20 p. m., and were applauded by the bleachers. Bressler took the mound to pitch to the batters and Eller took his position in order in the batting practice.

At this time the bleachers and pavilions were rapidly filling while there was a good sprinkling of people in the grand stand and boxes.

Band Plays Again.

At 1:25 p. m., the Cincinnati band made its appearance, stopped in front of the Reds' bench and played a medley of southern airs. They received round after round of applause.

Eller for Cincinnati and Williams for Chicago were warming up when the umpires made their appearance at 1:55 p. m.

Eller continued his good work and neither Williams nor Liebold could connect with him. Ed Collins up. Ball one. Ball two. Ball three. Strike one. Strike two. Collins fanned. Eller continued his good work second inning by striking out all three batters in the third. He was pitching remarkable ball. This is also a record in a world's series game for the pitcher to retire the batsmen in two successive innings by striking them out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING—FIRST HALF
Daubert up. Foul, strike one. Foul strike two. Daubert hoisted an easy one that Felsch had hardly to move to take. Groh up. Strike one. Ball one. Groh fell down to avoid Williams' second pitch. CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Clashes between strike sympathizers and the police and special deputies during the last 36 hours in the Chicago district did not deter heads of steel mills from attempting to start additional plants, today, the beginning of the third week of the walkout. Company officials claimed they had assurance that large numbers of men who have been on strike for two weeks would return to work during the day and that many plants which have been idle for two weeks would begin operations.

Union leaders increased their picket lines early today in an effort to prevent desertions and asserted that they looked for no material reduction in their ranks. John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the national committee conducting the strike who planned to leave for Washington tonight to confer with heads of the American Federation of Labor, said many members were being taken in to the union every day.

Troops Patrol District
GARY, Ind., Oct. 6.—State troops today patrolled the avenues leading to steel plants and parts of the city where disorders were liable to develop, four companies having been brought here late last night from Indiana Harbor and East Chicago, where 12 companies were quartered, after rioting was resumed by strike sympathizers.

Late at night hundreds of strikers began to congregate before the gates of the United States Steel corporation plant and the mill of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company. Police and special deputies clashed with a crowd of strikers and many bricks and stones were thrown. Finally the situation became so threatening that Major William F. Hodges called on Adjutant General Harry R. Smith, of Indiana, who is in command of the troops ordered into the district by Governor Goodrich when rioting broke out Saturday night, to send several companies of soldiers as he believed affairs had got beyond control of the police.

While the troops were on the way here in street cars, the police succeeded in dispersing the crowds after using their clubs freely and making more than a dozen arrests. Major Lauden M. Harriman, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church at Indianapolis, who is in command of the battalion sent here reported to Mayor Hodges, and after a brief conference, the guardsmen were distributed at various points where it was believed disorders might occur.

A forman for the United States Steel corporation was shot and seriously injured early this morning while standing in his own doorway. It was not known whether the shot was purposely fired or whether the wound resulted from a stray bullet, although two shots were fired at several members of the citizens' police when they drove a crowd from the vicinity of the foreman's home. No one was hit, however.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 6.—Apart from a slight increase in the number of men entering the plant of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company early this morning, there was no change as the third week of the steel strike began here today. The Carnegie Steel Company now has 1100 men at work out of a normal 6,000 and the sheet and tube company about 700 against a normal 15,000. These men are employed chiefly in repair and upkeep work. The valley remains quiet and orderly and the strikers are holding firm.

BAXTER BROTHERS NOW SETTLED IN FINE NEW QUARTERS

Large Automobile Business is Now Efficiently Housed
and Organized.

ON WEST SPRING ST.

Largely Building Entirely
Remodeled to Fit Needs of Big Business.

When a business institution has reached the point where it is thoroughly and efficiently organized, there is always a time when perfect housing is needed.

Baxter Brothers well known Lima distributors of high-class automobiles, have long had the perfect organization, resulting in sales being rolled up that has taxed the capacity of their factories to give them more than their quota.

But until a few days ago the "perfect housing" feature was missing from the Baxter Brothers business—but now that, too, has been supplied and the business is ready to break the records for past performances that everyone connected with the organization knows it is going to do.

New Location Admirable

Sometime ago Baxter Brothers leased the large building at 123 West Spring street. The structure which is 50x200, was entirely remodeled to fit the demands of an automobile business and now that it has been re-opened, and the various departments of the Baxter business assembled there, the visitor finds one of the most complete automobile organizations ever housed under one roof.

The beauty of the building and its handsome appointments is the first feature to strike the eye and please it. No expense has been spared in making the building over, either for convenience or appearance and the final result has been a harmonious and effective arrangement that can not fail to make its favorable impression with everyone who visits the new establishment.

First Floor

The first floor contains the salesroom at the front, where displays may be made of the lines carried by the firm, including the Packard, Monarch of all it surveys and admirably the car that instantly tells class, the Oakland and the Hudson. The salesroom has a concrete floor, finished in red tint, taking away the common appearance.

Just back of the salesroom is an emergency repair department, where cars that require but temporary adjustments that may be made quickly, can be repaired and sent on their way without a moment's waste of time. This department is fitted up with every tool needed for quick repairs.

At the rear of the building is a large room for cars.

Second Floor

The offices of the firm are on the second floor and no business working rooms in the city are nicer arranged to give a more pleasing effect to the eye.

It is a well known truth to business men that they accomplish much more in their daily labors if the surroundings are restful and convenient, and Baxter Brothers have worked out to the ninth degree of offices that will suit the particular demands of their business and at the same time give the maximum of comfort to workers.

Used Car Department

On the second floor also there is a complete used car department, and cars that have been in use may be virtually rebuilt and turned out looking like new. There is even a complete paint shop where competent men put all the touches that make a used car present the appearance of a new.

There is also a "parts department" where all parts of the cars sold by the firm are kept under an arrangement so efficient that any desired part may be instantly obtainable.

In the rear there is a large repair shop, where the heaviest work may be done, and cars completely overhauled. Competent workmen are employed and there will be no automobile work that has to be sent away from this department.

The firm of Baxter Brothers consists of Frank A. Baxter and Clem S. Baxter, both well known business men of the city for many years. They have built up in a few years a large and profitable business and now that they are in commodious quarters, with a plant thoroughly organized and efficiently equipped, they will increase their volume of business to even larger figures.

FAMILY OF FIVE DIE WHEN CAR HITS AUTOMOBILE

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 6.—A family of five was wiped out at the Ohio electric crossing of the Valley pike just west of Dunneville when a Springfield-bound traction car crashed into an automobile bearing an Illinois license No. 171575.

As identified from a card in the man's pocket the victims are H. C. Cree, Rural Route 1, Wooding, Ill.; his wife and three children.

The man and woman were about 15, and the children about 1, 3 and 7.

The automobile was demolished and in the wreckage was the body of a dog, evidently the pet of the children.

Bits of surplus clothing, a bag of apples and potatoes with cooling utensils scattered in the wreckage indicated the family had been camping along the route. A Chambersburg, Pa., pennant was on the automobile.

Conductor Dan Jones and Motorman Charles Mairan were in charge of the car.

FARMERS TO HELP IN FALL FESTIVAL

The committee appointed by the Lima Merchants Association to work up enthusiasm in the coming fall festival exhibit reports that there has been a great deal of interest manifested by the farmers throughout the county. At a meeting of grange masters held Saturday afternoon at Memorial Hall the matter was presented to them and they were unanimous in cooperating with the merchants to make the festival a success.

A tent will be erected early Wednesday morning on the public square where all of the farmers who have exhibits may bring them. The prizes were announced several days ago, a $1 prize going to the best exhibit of corn, onions, pumpkins, apples etc. and a $2.50 prize to the second best.

Constipation.
The beginning of almost every serious disorder is constipation. If you want to enjoy good health keep your bowels regular. This is best accomplished by proper diet and exercise, but sometimes a medicine is needed and when that is the case you will find Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent. They are mild and gentle in their action, easy and pleasant to take. Give them a trial.

I. W. W. Agitators Working Among Akron Negroes

AKRON, O., Oct. 6.—Evidence that the I. W. W. organization is endeavoring to arouse Akron negroes to action against law and order was uncovered, police say. In the arrests late yesterday of a number of organizers, police seized inflammatory pamphlets which the organizers had for distribution in the negro sections of the city.

The pamphlets were violent in tone and urged negroes to take immediate steps to punish members of the race to secure "redress" for imagined wrongs which were vividly pictured.

Two alleged headquarters of I. W. W. workers here were raided by police.

NOTED DINING ROOM OF MRS. DIMOND IS CLOSED TO PUBLIC

Building to be Torn Down to Make Way for Great Structure.

Following the Sunday dinner yesterday of the Dimond dining room at 91 West Market street, for the past 10 years conducted by Mrs. Anna Dimond were formally closed to the public. Mrs. Dimond has been in business for a number of years, having conducted one of the most popular and best known dining parlors in the city. As yet she has made no definite arrangements for the future.

It has been known for some time that the property where Mrs. Dimond was located, formerly the old Thornton Mitchell home was to be torn down and a handsome new building of some kind to be erected in its stead. There has been many speculations as to what manner of building was to be constructed as the property was purchased a few months ago by W. L. Russell, Lima, an architect.

It was rumored at various times that a hotel was to be built on the site and again that a splendid new theatre was to be erected. No definite information could be obtained today as Mr. Russell is at present in New York City and will not be at home for at least two weeks.

PRICE OF FRESH BEEF DOUBLED IN PAST SIX YEARS

Interesting Figures Submitted
Bureau of Labor in Latest Bulletin.

COMPARED WITH 1913

Bread at Retail Fails to Keep Step with Flour in Big Advance in Price.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Discussing prices and cost of living, the bureau of labor statistics in its latest bulletin, just issued, says that the greatest increases have taken place in the prices of meat and breadstuffs. Prices for these staples began to rise soon after European war started in 1914. The bureau says that as to cattle, fresh beef at wholesale and round steak at retail, the statistics it has obtained show that in the six years from 1913 to 1919 live cattle show a relatively higher increase in this period than either fresh beef at wholesale or round steak at retail, though prices for live cattle have recently been on the decline.

For heavy hogs smoked hams at wholesale and sliced ham at retail increased to a less extent. Measured by the price of hogs the retail price of sliced ham was considerably lower in the early months of 1919 than in the corresponding month of 1913 and 1914. The same fact is observed when the prices of sliced ham are compared with those of smoked hams at wholesale. In all cases the sharp increases that have taken place in the price of meats since the beginning of 1917 are apparent.

Wheat and Bread Prices.

The statistics for wheat, flour and bread show plainly the effect of the outbreak of war late in the summer of 1914 on the price of these commodities. The high peak reached in the summer of 1917, before price control became effective, also is quite evident. The table of relative prices show that, measured by the average price for 1913, bread at retail increased to a much smaller extent during the period than did wheat or flour at wholesale. The increase in the price differential between wheat and flour since the beginning of the war, was especially since the entry of this country into the war, is clearly seen.

Corn Prices Compared.

The per pound prices of corn, cornmeal at wholesale and cornmeal at retail in three separate localities are shown. It is seen that there was little fluctuation in the prices until near the close of 1916, when increases in the price of wheat were reflected in corn and meal prices. The high peak for corn and meal at wholesale was reached in the second half of 1917, following the peak for wheat and flour prices. Cornmeal at retail continued to advance until the spring of 1918, with a widening differential between its price and that of corn. Since April 1918, prices of corn and meal have declined, the differential at the present time being still somewhat greater than in pre-war months.

For meats especially, changes in the price of basic materials appear to have been promptly reflected in retail prices. For breakfasts the response of retail prices was not so prompt. With reference to prompt figures leads to the conclusion, also, that so far as these commodities are concerned the ratio of prices of raw materials to those of their manufactured products has varied but little during the period under review.

DRY TEST IN NORWAY.

CHRISTIANIA, Oct. 6.—A plebiscite to determine the question of a national prohibition of alcohol in Norway was begun today throughout the entire country. ENQUIRER BOOSTS THE SOUSA BAND

The theatrical editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer has the following good words to say of the appearance of John Philip Sousa and his noted band there the past week:

The presence of Sousa in town during the past week suggests the unique place he holds in the musical history of this country. Somebody has said that Sousa's music is, after all, the only music which must have been written by an American in America. There are many American composers of light and serious music who have won distinction in their art. But in most instances, it is a style of music which savors of European schools according to the predilection of the particular composer, his early training and the influence under which he has been developed. There is an effort now crystallizing which will make for a distinctive American school in music, in which American life and American thought will be the commanding influences.

But, while this school is in the process of formation, there is no hesitation about the classification of the Sousa marches. They are distinctive. They have crossed the boundaries and other countries have recognized them as the unique expression of the American people. Whatever their musical value may be in the final estimation there is no gainsaying the fact that they are as typical of our country as are the Sousa waltzes of the Vienna that once was.

And, though Sousa has won his reputation on these marches and his individual style as a bandmaster, he is a musician of more serious capabilities. The elegy, "The Golden Star," which he played at his recent concert here, readily discloses this fact. This composition, written in memory of the fallen heroes of the recent war, is of a far more serious nature than usually.

Sousa's Band at Memorial all tomorrow night. Tickets at Harman's.

Mrs. T. Feeley, of the Yant Apartments entertained with a one o'clock luncheon at the Lima Club, Saturday for the pleasure of her house guest, Mrs. Harry Burke, of Toledo, and of Mrs. Harry O. Bentley, who on that day was celebrating her birthday anniversary.

Guests were grouped about one large round table laid in the peacock room of the club. It was a handsomely arranged table with a mammoth round centerpiece of pink roses. Pink candles in crystal holders burned merrily throughout the luncheon.

Each was the diversion of the afternoon, Mrs. Ote Davis held high score and was presented with a dainty little gift, while Mrs. Bentley was the recipient of a beautiful Wallace Nutting landscape.

All guests present were members of the B. B. Club, of which Mrs. Bentley is a member and to which Mrs. Burke belonged when she was a resident of this city.

PRETTY SHOWER

Wagner are in charge of the arrangements.

Savings Accounts Increase

During the war, citizens of Allen County invested millions of dollars in Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps—They would have bought more if necessary.

Some people thought all the money in the country was going out of circulation—but it didn't. Savings accounts were perhaps regarded for the time being, but are now larger than ever.

The Allen County Savings and Loan company has made more loans for the building of new homes than ever in its history.

This adds more to the tax duplicate, gives employment to labor and builds up the city.

It helps you. If you are not a depositor become one today. Put aside some money that will earn you 5%.

CONFERENCE IS COMPELLED TO BELIEVE REPORTS

People of Korea Have Endured Sufferings Which Are Unjust and Unnecessary

FAITH IS EXPRESSED

Federated Mission Looks to Japan to Inaugurate More Just System.

KARUIZAWA, JAPAN, Oct. 6.—

The conference of Federated Missions of Japan has adopted resolutions concerning the disturbance in Korea, declaring that "we have been forced to believe that the reports are substantially true and that the people of Korea have endured sufferings which are unjust and unnecessary."

These sufferings, the resolutions add, might easily be ended once for all if the methods of administration were divested of that harshness and cruelty which are so strangely at variance with the high and enlightened principles according to which Japan proper is now governed and with the kindheartedness in which Japan as a people abounds.

The resolutions express faith that the Japanese government will inaugurate a more just system. They add, "We bear testimony to the passion for enlightenment which is an indomitable impulse throughout the heart of the nation, and which has brought about such general progress during the half century since Japan was opened to the world."

"We have rejoiced in the many improvements brought about in Korea since that country came under the authority of the Japanese government. We do not wish to condone any mistakes the Korean people may have made nor disregard the inherent difficulty always attached to such an administrative task as that in hand in Korea."

Give Moral Support.

"But we wish to give clear and public expression to our unmingled sympathy with those of the Korean people to whom recent troubles have brought cruel and unmerited suffering. And we wish to give our moral support—and this is the chief reason for making this statement—to any steps looking to a real and permanent bettering of conditions in Korea."

YOUTH CONFESSES POOLROOM ROBBERY

ST. MARYS, Oct. 6.—Frank Emerson, better known as "Kid" Emerson because of his supposed boxing abilities, has confessed to having entered the Hirschfeld poolroom and tobacco store and stole money amounting to $25 and a box of 50 El Verso cigars.

Emerson is a lad only 18 years of age and hails from Oklahoma. During the carnival here, he took part in several boxing exhibitions which were staged in a tent at the corner of Spruce and Spring streets.

The lad was picked up by Chief of Police Ford Miller, about 11 o'clock Friday night when he returned from a trip to Wapak, Buckland and other places. The lad stoutly proclaimed his innocence at first but after a two hours cross questioning on the part of the Chief, finally admitted his guilt.

Luther Moyer, of Wapak, who was injured last week in New Bremen when he was struck by an automobile when in the act of turning a traction switch, continues to suffer considerable pain in his injured limb. The two small bones of the ankle which were fractured have not been in condition to be set as yet, but it was expected that an attempt would be made to set them some time today.

The following named St. Marys residents, Saturday, attended the annual Day of Atonement service at Beth Israel Temple, Lima: Mr. and Mrs. M. Rosenthal, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Victor and daughter Hortense, B. Goldstein and son Jack.

Pasture looks good as the result of recent rains and warm weather. As yet, however, it has had no noticeable effect on milk production, but with another week of the present kind of weather, the pasture will improve (it) it will quite likely have a tendency to increase the milk production. This circumstance would scarcely have the effect of lowering milk and butter prices unless the same condition became general over several states. No definite forecast can be made whether milk and butter prices are to rise or fall this winter, but it is quite generally conceded that there will be a slight upward incline.

SOME "HORSE" FUN BEHIND SCENES IN "MICKY"

Mabel Normand's Clever Joke On Famous Horsewoman.

There are many instances of Mabel Normand's personality in "Mickey," but one particularly is characteristic of her wit. True to her name in this production, which will be shown at the Regent theatre, on all this week, Mabel is in "real" life Mickey first cousin, with the same merry twinkle in her eye and the true Celtic wit.

One of the most thrilling incidents in "Mickey" occurs when the sheriff, the grocer, everyone, the whole town chasing mischievous Mickey, she runs down the narrow street and with one bound of about ten feet, lands on her horse's back and is racing into the hills again.

When this scene was being filmed at the Sennett studios in California a very prominent horsewoman, on a sight-seeing trip through Hindoon, became quite engrossed in the production of "Mickey," the personality Mabel Normand was instilling in her characterization, and the really wonderful stunts Miss Normand is capable of. She was amazed at this clever feat, and the precision and sureness with which Miss Normand calculated her distance and her jump. Everyone naturally looked to see the impression this made on the sight-seer. But she took great pains not to appear in the least bit impressed.

During the interval between the changing of sets, Mabel found herself seated beside the horsewoman whose reputation as an expert she was aware of. They exchanged a few formal remarks, and Miss Normand, with her naturally warm and friendly personality, felt at first a bit taken back by her cold and haughty neighbor's condescending manner.

"You did that remarkably well," said the visitor patronizingly, looking down over her nose as if she couldn't find Miss Normand exactly, "but, of course, that is just one of the most difficult of the straight running jumps."

"Oh, but Miss Normand does so many other wonderful stunts," a little extra who had been listening, ventured.

Then Miss Normand's Irish "was up," and the fun began.

"Yes," Mabel said, simply, "but the one I like best in the Zeland jump, and with a topple effect it's fascinating. Have you ever tried it with the topple effect?"

The expert smiled, but as a horsewoman she was a poor actress. "Well, as a matter of fact, when one

"But you ought to," Mabel said, with a very serious nod. "And Zeland himself—wonderful horseman, isn't he?—and they say he taught some of the greatest crowned heads before the war. Everyone knows he learned that topple effect, though, from the Parisian actress, Habbett something. You remember the scandal? Awful, wasn't it? No one ever really got to the bottom of that thing—but I did hear, from an authority—well, it's not exactly the sort of thing one repeats. . . . Pardon me, I must change for the next scene."

"That's very interesting, Miss Normand. I—I never did get to the bottom of that myself, but—perhaps I'll see you again tomorrow morning before I leave."

CRIMP IS PUT IN CITY FINANCES BY BUDGET COMMISSION

Municipality Gets $120,000 Less Than It Asked For Year 1920.

CRISIS SURE TO COME

Deficit Bonds May Be Floated by Action of the Council.

The budget commission which adjourned Saturday allowed the schools approximately $48,000 more for the coming year than it did the entire city of Lima.

How the city will be able to get along on the $176,000 portioned them by the commission is beyond the ken of city officials. It is City Auditor Rupert's idea that a crisis will be reached before the first six months of 1920 has passed, and citizens of Lima will have to vote in favor of deficit bonds.

The $176,000 allotted the city is $120,000 less than asked for. The safety department, for the year of 1920 will consume nearly this amount, as it takes approximately $112,000 to maintain this department for 12 months. The service department figures show $81,000 will have to be portioned to that department, while general fund will consume approximately $33,000, and the health fund $10,500. Other departments have asked for $11,300. This whole totals $246,300. Yet the city must manage to get along on $176,000 or float deficit bonds.

Deficit bonds for the year of 1919 may be floated at the action of council. It is Rupert's suggestion that this be done, and the coming year be started on a clean slate. Then if after cutting all departments as much as possible, the city is unable to get along on the same portioned it by the budget commissions, the citizens will simply have to vote in favor of the bonds.

The commissions allowed the schools approximately $224,315 to operate on during the year of 1920.

He is being sent to the various cities in the state under the auspices of the Ohio Taxpayers League and the Chamber of Commerce in these cities. Everyone is welcome to come and hear his lecture, which is filled with many interesting points relative to the tax law.

MICHIGAN GRADS TO ATTEND GAME

Big Crowd Going Up From Lima to See Ohio State Contest.

The members of the University of Michigan Alumni Association of Lima are planning a trip to Ann Arbor Oct. 25, to see the Ohio State-Michigan football game. Judging from the scores made by both teams this season, the Michigan-Ohio State game promises to be a good one.

Since Michigan's return to the Western Conference a new interest has been created in western football, and this year for the first time Ohio State looms up as a formidable opponent to "the men in blue."

The Michigan Alumni of Ohio are particularly interested in the outcome of this year's Michigan-State game, and several of the Lima-Michigan men have signified their intention to journey to Ann Arbor to witness the battle from the side lines.

The Alumni and friends of the University are urged to communicate with Benj. I. Motter, 411 Holmes Bldg., the secretary of the Association by Wednesday morning in order that seats may be engaged and arrangements for the trip completed. The association has planned for reservations at the Michigan union where the alumni and friends may secure rooms at a normal cost.

It is interesting to note that there are more than 9,000 students at the University this year, and that a visit to Ann Arbor at this time will offer a splendid opportunity to see them in action.

REV. STILES STIRS ROTARIANS WITH UNUSUAL ADDRESS

Dr. S. K. Mosiman, Bluffton College Head, Also Delivers Address.

ENDORSE THE TREATY

Learned Gentlemen Tell Rotarians It Will Settle World Unrest.

Rotarians and guests heard one of the most eloquent appeals for the ratification of the peace treaty yet made in Lima, when Rev. Franklin A. Stiles delivered a remarkable address at the luncheon, Monday.

Rev. Franklin Stiles stated that he believed the treaty should be ratified at once, and had but few reservations he wished made the principal one being a clear definition of the Monroe Doctrine.

A strong argument he made was that the statesmen now debating the treaty did not have a true conception of the mission of the Republic. He recalled that the great Daniel Webster once said that it would be utterly impossible to have a United States beyond the Allegheny mountains, this great man, whom the speaker said had the greatest brain of any American yet produced, not being able at that time to realize the wonderful growth this country would have.

It is Rev. Stiles' belief that the statesmen who are opposing the treaty are not doing so from a political motive, but that they have failed to get the right perspective of the part this country must hereafter play in the world's affairs.

"America can no longer be bounded by the oceans no more than you could keep the stars in your backyard," was one of the speaker's forcible statements.

Dr. Mosiman For It

Dr. S. K. Mosiman, president of Bluffton College and recognized as one of the country's leading educators, also spoke on the peace treaty and said that it was his hope that it would be ratified at once. He predicted 15 years ago, after two and a half years of study in Germany, that the army that country had built up and gloried in, would be the final cause of wrecking Germany.

He assailed militarism and said that it was his greatest hope that America would not espouse militarism in even a small way. He said the peace treaty, carrying with it the league of nations, is the world's greatest protection from Bolshevism and that once the treaty is passed all countries can settle down. He said that the problems of the world are not going to be settled as long as men only want to work six hours, however, and that we must all do our individual part in getting the nation and the world back to productivity.

Dr. Hill Speaks
Dr. John Wesley Hill, noted New York orator and honorary member of the club, was present and when called upon to speak said that he believed that the debate and thought put upon the treaty were the best things that could happen. His oratorical ability, admittedly wonderful, was brought into play, and indicated that he, while not exactly opposing the treaty and the league of nations, felt it should be revised. He offered no suggestions for improvements, however.

Guests of the day were: Dr. Hill, Warren Hilton, New York; F. W. Tate, Cleveland; T. E. Edwards; N. E. Byers, Bluffton; O. McBride; Dr. Nagelson; Albert Scott, St. Marys; R. Kenneth Kerr; W. L. Farmer.

CURTIS T. BAXTER IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Curtis T. Baxter, 60 years of age, a well known farmer of Marion township, and a brother of the late session to the ministry of Danad Sunday morning at 6 o'clock following an illness of several years. For the past three weeks his condition had been serious. The deceased was born in Marion township, September 7, 1859, and had spent practically his entire life in that vicinity. He was one of the best known farmers in Allen county and took an active interest in farm affairs.

Besides the widow, four sons all living in Marion township survive him. They are Clinton, William, Clyde and Carey. ORPHEUM THEATRE WILL NOT CLOSE FOR ANY TIME WHATEVER

Published Story that Vaudeville Will Shut Up, Is Not True.

BIGGER ACTS COMING.

Gus Sun Appreciates Lima Patronage and Has Booked Star Attractions.

Absolute denial was made Monday morning by Ralph Candler, personal representative of Mr. Gus Sun, of Springfield, lessor of the playhouse, of the report that the Orpheum theatre, which plays B. F. Keith vaudeville in Lima, would close, even temporarily. Candler, who came to Lima from the general offices of the Gus Sun Amusement Co., in Springfield, Sunday, expressed surprise at the report of the impending closing of the Orpheum. He was at a loss to know the source of the rumor and said it was without any foundation.

Keith Acts.
"Lima is one of the best amusement cities in the state," said Candler. "There is no other Ohio town which appreciates more or patronizes more generously high class shows, whether vaudeville or otherwise. The vaudeville attractions offered at the Orpheum are the best that money and world-wide booking affiliations can procure and come to the Orpheum direct from various B. F. Keith theatres in such cities as Columbus, Toledo, Cincinnati, Cleveland or Dayton."

Big Acts Coming.
"We know that the theatregoers of Lima appreciate the quality of these big-time acts and there is absolutely no intention on the part of Mr. Gus Sun to close the Orpheum. I personally know that some of the biggest and best vaudeville acts and the greatest stars of the varieties al-

An Open Letter TO THE PUBLIC

I am a candidate for Mayor Lima. I have lived in Lima for 25 years. During the last 23 years I have been an employee of five different railway and traction companies.

I have been one of the ninety percent of our citizens who earn their living by working for a corporation or company.

I have received a salary of $140 per month from the O. E. Ry. when I resigned recently. This was an increase of 12 per cent over what I was paid five years ago.

I have never had jurisdiction over nor a dollar invested in any Lima public utility. I always paid my electric light bills and street car fare of my family the same as other citizens and patrons. These are truths frankly spoken.

Now to the point. My election as Mayor is not sought, and to my knowledge, not desired by any public utility. Not a dollar shall be asked or accepted from any such utility in my campaign.

I firmly and truthfully say that I am absolutely free from entanglement with, or obligation to, any corporation, machine or clique.

I solemnly declare that if I am honored with this public trust that I shall serve the people with heart, conscience and intelligence to the fullest measure of my ability.

If elected, my experience will enable me to actively and exactly secure available results from our public utilities; to this I pledge myself heartily and sincerely.

Words must be supported by past records. More than 1,500 voters in Lima have known me personally for ten to forty years. Ask them. Get from them my record as to honesty, firmness, diligence, patriotism and public spiritedness.

You will not have to go far to find out. I ask of you to do this rather than to accept deliberately devised propaganda that is intended only to keep in power, at all costs, the present boss-wielded machine.

With your permission I will put a "monkey wrench" in this machine and provide a new broom for City Hall.

Think it over. Talk it over. Use the ballot.

Very sincerely yours,
F. A. BURKHARDT.

XLVIII.—I VOW VENGEANCE

Bob Calloway stood beside me, looking down at me with an amused tolerance.

"So she wants to be young and beautiful and captivating always? Have a heart, Neil, and let some of us descend to a peaceful old age."

"Come sit down," I invited, moving over and patting the rock invitingly. "I was just meditating on the charming idyll of the trysting stone. Of course Alice has told you. Only fancy mourning a dead lover when there are so many fascinating live ones in the world."

Bob did not reply. He was scrutinizing me closely with that keen quiet glance of his. I recalled suddenly that I had not seen him since the tempestuous morning when I had told him that he was the only man in the world I loved, or would love. In the rush of subsequent events, that episode had completely escaped my mind.

I strove desperately to recall all that I had said that day, chattering meanwhile with feigned unconcern. I felt that this attitude would be the key to the way in which he had taken my confession. If he were embarrassed by it, I was sure he would make no reference to the occasion. He soon put an end to my conjectures.

"Do you recall what you told me that morning we motored to Camp—?" He asked abruptly, breaking in upon my chatter.

I nodded without speaking.

"Did you mean it, or was it merely a momentary impulse?"

I nodded again without looking up, as I traced imaginary symbols on the rock's surface with my gloved finger.

There was a prolonged silence and I heard Bob draw a deep breath.

"I couldn't believe it—I don't believe it yet," he said at last in a low tone, "I think you've only tricked yourself into caring for an ideal. What am I to inspire such a sentiment in a radiant creature like yourself? And yet I've been able to think of nothing else. I think my wife sees a change in me. For my life, I can't act as before."

"You've not made it any easier," I murmured, fully aware that I was taking the worst course, "You haven't told me that you're even fond—of me."

"Fond of you!" Bob sprang up and took a quick stride away from me toward the sundial. He stood there staring down at the dial's face where the shadow fell aslant the meridian hour, but I knew that he was not seeing it. I watched him a moment with triumphant eyes and then I slid down from the rock and went over to him, slipping my hand through his arm.

"See, the inscription: 'I count none but the happy hours! There could be no dial in my garden, Bob,' I said softly.

He withdrew his arm and turned to look down at me with the sternest expression I have ever had from him.

"I have a wife and children, Neil, I dare not let myself think about you, much less tell you what I could think. But I pity you, little girl, I pity you from the bottom of my heart."

I drew back astounded until I realized that he referred to my unrequited love for himself, and then I was torn between sheer anger and a desire to laugh.

Bob took it for the mirthless sound that covers an awkward moment. But down in my heart I registered a solemn vow for vengeance. I would humble this creature who dared to pity me if I ruined him and myself in the act.

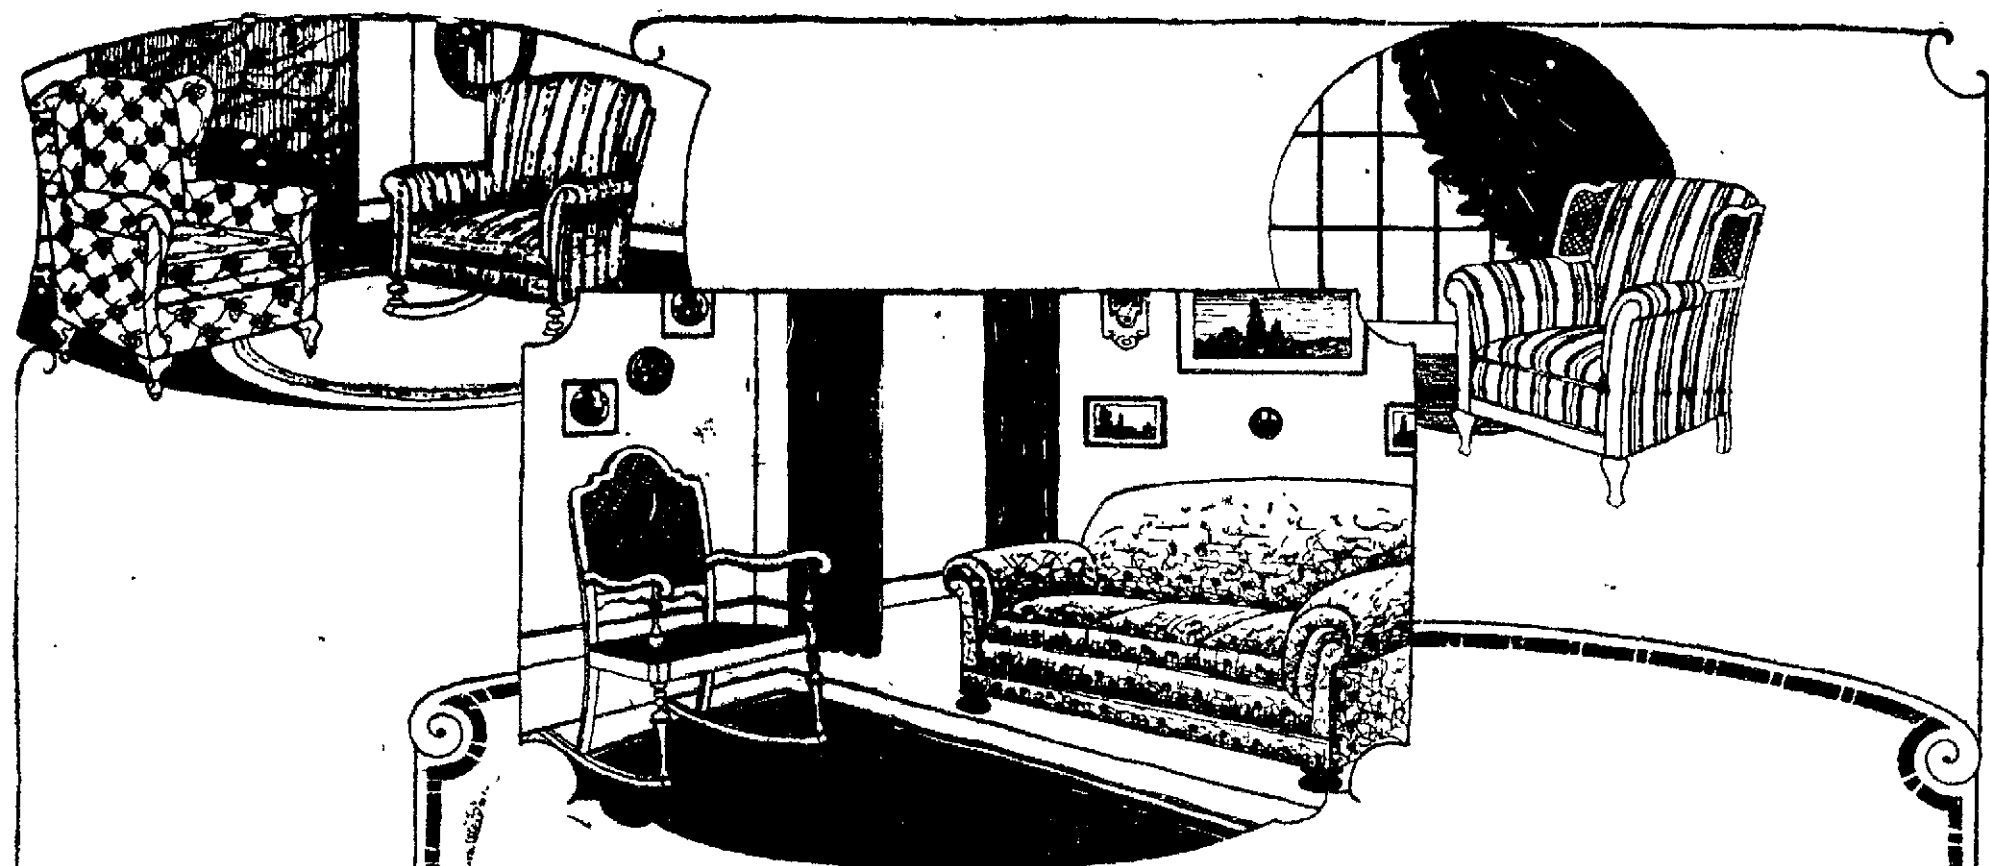

At that critical moment, Mrs. Calloway came down the veranda steps and waved to us.

"How do you do? Mrs. Tindall," she greeted me sweetly, but gave us a keen glance from her childish blue eyes. "Bob, I didn't know you would be home to lunch. Why didn't you come upstairs to tell me you were here?"

I saw a fleeting look of weariness cross Bob Calloway's face as he made the natural explanation that he had seen me in the garden and had come out to pay his respects.

Evidently explanations of his actions were an old and ever-to-be expected story in the Calloway family.

THE CHARM OF LOVELY WOMAN, AS EXPRESSED IN NEW AUTUMN MODES

Frocks Versatile, Simple and Captivating, Yet Eminently Adaptable—Chief Purpose of Home Dressmakers to Obey Dictates of Fashion and Success Is Theirs—
Skirts and Jackets Are Longer, But Ripple Coats Are Short—Tricotine, Serge, Tricolette, Wool Jersey and Cord de Laine Predominating Materials—
Autumn's Penchant for High Collars Admirably Featured—Tailored Suit Propaganda Fails to Affect Top Coats.

By MARY G. HALL.
NOW that they are not and from the task of reconciling advanced styles for Autumn with fashion of a waning summer, designers of smart frocks are opening the flood gates of ideas and pouring forth a stream of lovely models. The latest offerings are versatile, simple and captivating, yet adaptable to the capabilities of the ever-increasing army of home dressmakers. The woman who has not yet selected her suit for Fall will do well to make a choice between wool jersey, cord de laine, serge or velours, for these are the predominating materials for fall frocks. One-piece frocks for general wear are limited almost exclusively to tricotine, Tricolette and Jersey. More formal designs, of course, are in satin, silk and fabrics that drape gracefully and feature a lustrous surface.

Charming and appropriate for any occasion is a design in cord de laine, color dark brown. There is distinction in every line of the blouse with open front and vest of tucked fibre silk. A new feature of decoration is patch pockets on the vest. Follow the belt, which is slipped through openings in the underarm seams are buttons on either side of the front. These are of self-material and appear also on the plain one-piece sleeves. Developed in plain broadcloth this blouse could be trimmed with braid stitched on the belt and at the lower corners of the front.

Nothing more original could be desired than a frock of navy tricotine with vestee of unadorned batiste. The neckline of the vest is round and the upper fronts of the waist follow the same line. Turn back cuffs finish the plain one-piece sleeves. Attached to the waist is a one-piece gathered skirt with a deep plait in the back, with several rows of braid at the lower edge. There are large patch pockets also trimmed with bands of braid in addition to fancy buttons.

Coats form an engaging chapter in the history of fashion, and despite the propaganda in favor of the tailored suit, the long top coat steadily is gaining followers among women who know. A model that is sure to compel a close study of its style and lines is in silvertone. It fastens at one side, though it is not in full double-breasted effect. The fulness is held in with a belt of self-material, only moderately wide and there are inserted pockets with smartly stitched flaps to conceal them. The deep cuffs following the comfy wind-about effect of the collar and are also ornamented with buttons. Despite its snug, cold-defying appearance, the collar may be worn in low effect, thus accommodating its lines to the exactions of the most ardent fresh-air advocate.

There are some attractive ripple effects, but they are shorter, ostensibly for youthful effect. There are many designers who insist that the ripple coats are being featured to satisfy public demand for novelty, but they have taken such a hold on popular fancy that they will retain their vogue through the Fall and Winter at least.

Salted Dressing.

One cup of milk, 1 tablespoonful butter, 2 tablespoonfuls flour, 2 tea-spoonfuls sugar, 2 teaspoonfuls mustard, 1 teaspoonful salt, pinch of cayenne, 1 egg, 1/2 cup vinegar (boiled and cooled) and heat 15 minutes.

rather to the required size, stitch tape underneath gathers for a stay and finish for closing. Add pockets and belt, for finishing touches.

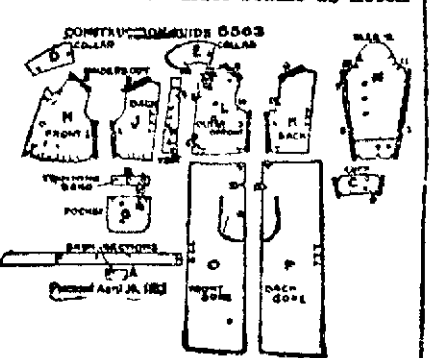

Home Dressmaker's Corner.

The Mode Expresses Itself in This Simple Frock of Dark Blue Voile Trimmed with Satin.

THE slim silhouette is the thing, for even though there are draperies aplenty, they assume such shapes as interpret slenderness. For general wear one need not hesitate to reproduce this one-piece frock in dark blue and cuffs, have the large "O" perforations resting along a lengthwise thread. When cutting the lining, place the large "O" perforations of the front along a lengthwise thread and the triple "T" perforations of the back along the lengthwise fold. Then, take the underbody and close underarm and shoulder seams. Hem the front and plait lower edges for stay.

Take the outer waist and close under arm and shoulder seams as notched. Turn under front edge of front on slot perforations and stitch 1 inch from folded edge. Gather waist at lower edge between "T" perforations. Gather lower edge of vest and slip under folded edge of right outer front with notches and edges underneath even. Close seam underneath invisibly, finish left side edge for closing. Next close the seam of sleeve, leaving seam free below large "O" perforation and finish for closing. Gather upper edge of sleeve between "T" perforations. Sew cuff to lower edge of sleeve as notched. Leave cuff free beyond the small "O" perforation and finish for closing. Sew sleeve in armhole as notched with small "O" perforation at shoulder seam. Set sleeve toward you when beating in the armhole.

Face collar and sew to neck edge as notched, with center-backs even. Arrange outer waist on underbody and Blue Voile and Satin.

Blue voile, with vest and collar of self figured tan satin. The two-piece skirt is gathered and attached to the blouse under a spring belt of its own material. It may or may not be trimmed with pockets. In medium size the dress requires 4 1/2 yards 36-inch material, with 1 yard 36-inch lining for the underbody and 1/2 yard 40-inch satin for trimmings.

The processes of cutting and construction are both very simple, as is proved by the guides. The front and back pieces of the skirt having the triple "T" perforations laid along the lengthwise fold of material, make the number of seams to be sewed less. The back of the waist and the vest are arranged in the same way. The outer front of the vest, sleeve po-bring folded edge of outer front over the double small "O" perforation to underbody front.

YEGGS FOILED WHEN THEY SEEK MONEY

WAPAKONETA, Oct. 6.—When Herman Kuhlman, president of the People's Savings Bank of New Knoxville, was about to open the bank early Saturday morning, he was surprised to see the curtains drawn down at all the windows, it being his custom to raise them every night at closing time.

A more disagreeable surprise came to him when he entered the bank, as he found one of the rear windows open and a large hole cut in the door of the safety deposit vault, presumably by an oxyacetylene torch, about two feet in length and a foot wide, and the action that had been cut out, lying on the floor. Mr. Kuhlman investigated the inside of the vault and found records, papers and books lying around, and also a steel case containing twenty-five safety deposit boxes in a section of cases within the vault of the People's Bank in that Village Friday night, after opening the vault door by cutting out a section about the lock, with an acetylene torch. The yeggs were unable to open the strong box within the vault, containing the bank's funds. $5,500 of the stolen bonds were registered.

A sensational action, which involves prominent residents of Rockford and Celina, was filed in the Court of Common Pleas of Mercer county. William H. Christian, well known as a road contractor and architect, has sued George Hill, a member of the Board of Commissioners, of Mercer county, for damages in the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, under the averment that the defendant alienated the affections of the plaintiff's wife.

A Western Ohio freight car caught fire at Sidney when the trolley pole tore down the trolley wires, which fell across the top of the car and in to the street. Considerable excitement was occasioned, and there was danger to the curious who thronged about the spot. Police kept the crowds back and the Sidney fire department was called to extinguish the blaze. Employees of the company removed the charged wires.

CHICKEN THIEVES BUSY IN VAN WERT

VAN WERT, Oct. 6.—Sheriff Sells was notified that chicken thieves had made away with a number of chickens from the home of Charles Longwell, north of Middle Point. An effort was made to catch the culprits, but as they were traveling in an automobile, they made good their getaway.

George C. Eckenstein, chief quartermaster of the U. S. Navy, a widely known Van Wert boy now engaged in the enlistment work, has opened an office in room 255 of the Federal building to receive the applications of local young men who desire to join the service. During his temporary stay here he is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eckenstein, of Dickinson avenue.

The Child Welfare League of Van Wert county will hold a meeting at the Y. W. C. A., Tuesday afternoon the tenth instant, at 2.30 o'clock. A report of the recent drive at the county fair for funds, will be given. Mrs. William Burt, a representative of the Ohio State Board of Health, will deliver an address upon "Rebuilding America," which will treat upon the care of boys and girls and will touch upon subjects which should be of special interest to parents. The general public is invited to attend the meeting.

Daniel J. Ryan, ex-secretary of state, C. B. Kimball, speaker of the house of representatives and George L. Gagle, head of the Ohio Taxpayers League will all be present at the banquet and business meeting of the Trewnav club Monday evening at 6.15. Arrangements for their coming were made by Frank P. Edson. These men will discuss the proposed classification amendment to the state constitution, a subject of general interest to taxpayers at the coming November election.

R. R. DIRECTOR GIVES HINTS TO SHIPPERS

The director general of railroad has sent out a few helpful hints to shippers, and receivers of goods that might be of benefit to locals in these classes. In order to reduce the car shortage and increase the efficiency of freight cars, the director general urges that shippers load to the full extent promptly and by only or dering cars when needed and by eliminating railway carriers whenever motor truck or wagons can do the work.

Receivers are urged to be prompt when unloading arriving freight and ordering where possible in quantities representing the full capacity of cars disregarding freight units; by delivering from the nearest available source and by pooling orders to secure full carloads.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS NOTICE.

Every member of Lima Lodge, No. 91, is urgently requested to attend the session on Wednesday evening. The Third Rank will be conferred on several candidates, Grand Chancellor, A. H. Wormwood will deliver an address, and there will be addresses from other prominent Pythians. A banquet will be served.

LABOR-CAPITAL MEETING BEGINS

WILSON'S CONDITION MORE ENCOURAGING

INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE IN SESSION

President Wilson's Personality Will be Greatly Missed.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Interest in the nation's industrial situation, brought to a point regarded as critical because of increasing controversies between capital and organized labor, centered here today where representatives of the three great elements in national life, capital, labor and the public, were to sit in conference. Their aim as expressed by President Wilson when he issued the call for the meeting, will be to arrive at some "common ground of agreement and action with regard to the future conduct of industry."

Final details of arrangements for conference were completed last night when Secretary of Labor Wilson, Attorney General Palmer and Bernard Baruch, the last named one of the public's representatives, conferred with Secretary Tumulty at the White House. The conference, which will be held in the Pan-American building will be open at 2:30 o'clock. Secretary Wilson, acting for President Wilson, will call the meeting to order and preside until organization is perfected which will include the selection of a permanent chairman.

Who the permanent chairman will be had not been settled but Secretary Lane, one of the first to suggest such a conference, was among those mentioned. With the exception of those of the railroad workers, the representatives of all elements concerned were reported to be on hand and ready to start. A meeting of railroad union leaders was held this morning in an effort to adjust the controversy.

President Will be Missed
WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The success of the industrial round table conference, which begins here today, depends upon leadership, and in this respect the powerful personality of President Wilson will be missed.

The opinion most frequently expressed is that the conference will bring forth something of constructive value to the country if it can weather the first squall. But the squall will be a severe one.

All might have been different had it not been for the steel strike.

Since President Wilson issued his call for a conference that might smooth out the controversy between capital and labor, the industrial sky has darkened perceptibly.

The country is in the midst of a steel strike. Coal miners, in conference with their employers at Buffalo threaten to strike November 1st, if their demands are not granted.

Delinquencies Are Recalled.

While it was the administration's hope that the conference, representing all classes in society, might sit down calmly in a give-and-take spirit, this now measurably harder to do. The recollection of the mutual defiance of Judge Gary of the steel trust and the leaders of the steel strike, made before the senate committee on labor and education last week, is fresh in everyone's mind.

From sources close to the labor leadership comes information that labor will try its best to bring the steel strike before the round table at once as a concrete example of issues that are clamoring for industrial solution. Judge Gary already has declared that the United States Steel Corporation will not arbitrate the question of union recognition, the most vital issue in the strike.

NEGROES LYNCHED.
WASHINGTON, GEORGIA, Oct. 6.—Jack Gordon, a negro, charged with wounding Deputy Sheriff Freeman, near Lincolnton, Ga., Saturday night, and Will Brown, another negro, were lynched early today near the scene of the shooting, according to reports received at the sheriff's office here. Gordon was taken from this place early today by the county sheriff en route from Lincolnton and a number of white men in automobiles followed.

SIXTY KILLED IN A MEXICAN TRAIN WRECK

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 6.—Sixty persons were killed today in the wreck of the Laredo-Mexico City passenger train which was derailed between Venegas and Saltillo. Belief is expressed that a complete survey of the wreckage will show that at least 15 more were killed in the accident.

The train left Laredo, Saturday and was very heavily loaded, especially with second class passengers, among whom all the deaths occurred. The casualties among the first class passengers were limited to more or less serious injuries. The wreck occurred on the National lines and information regarding it was given out here tonight at the Mexican Central railway office.

ANIMAL ACTORS TO VISIT SCHOOLS

School Children to See Unique Entertainers Now at the Orpheum.

Children of the primary grades of the public schools of Lima will be given a treat Tuesday and Wednesday when, about noon recess, a big automobile loaded with the rarest cats and dogs they most ever saw will visit the various institutions and they will be given the opportunity of seeing, close-up, the little animal actors who are one of the big features at the Orpheum theatre for the first half of this week.

The cats and dogs are among the finest pedigreed specimens of their kind. They are called "Kittens' Entertainers" and, it is said, perform all manner of feats delightful to the hearts of the kiddies. Each of the matinees at the Orpheum for the first half of this week will be given at reduced prices for the benefit of the young folks. The hour of the matinees will be 2:30 o'clock. It is expected that school authorities will be lenient and permit those of the children who actually plan attendance to leave their classes in time to enjoy this extra treat.

There are five big-time vaudeville acts on the program for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, at the Orpheum. Each is direct from the B. P. Keith circuit of theatres. The headliners are Will Rawls and Ella Von Kaufman, among America's premier makers of mirth. They offer the irresistible minstrel comedy, "A Whing Worker."

PRESIDENT IS STEADILY IMPROVING

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—President Wilson continues to improve and passed a satisfactory night, said a bulletin issued at 11 a. m. today and signed by Rear Admiral Grayson, the president's physician, Rear Admiral Silt, head of the naval medical school here, and Dr. Sterling Ruffin, of this city.

The bulletin follows:
"White House, October 6, 11 a. m.: 'The improvement in the president's condition noted yesterday has continued. He had a satisfactory night.'"

(Signed)
"GRAYSON,
"RUFFIN,
"SILT."

This was the first time Drs. Silt and Ruffin, who have been assisting Dr. Grayson, have signed the bulletin which was issued after a consultation between the doctors.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—President Wilson had another good night last night and apparently his condition continued to improve. During the morning Rear Admiral Grayson, his personal physician, held another consultation with Rear Admiral Silt, head of the naval medical school, and Dr. Sterling Ruffin, of this city.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—While President Wilson's condition steadily is improving, his physicians made it clear today that they did not intend to relax at once their treatment of absolute rest, carrying with it a prohibition against official acts of any character.

Those attending the president are much encouraged at his improvement and feel it is likely to mean that he is definitely on the way to recovery but they care to take no chance of a setback. They regard absolute rest as an essential safeguard against such a development and they do not propose to permit him to leave his bed until all danger of it is passed.

Mr. Wilson was described today as chafing somewhat because he was not permitted to give any attention to official matters but Rear Admiral Grayson, his personal physician, said that on the whole he was proving "a good patient." He wanted to prepare a statement for the industrial and labor conference opening here today but his physician would not hear to it. Dr. Grayson arranged to consult again today with the other physicians who were called in last week to see the president. It was said that while the president's condition remained as it is now, at least one other physician besides Dr. Grayson would see him daily.

The president's illness prevented members of the supreme court from making their customary call on him on the opening day of court.

on Kibby street near the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks, and after forcing the door were frightened away by John Holter, crossing watchman. They, however, fired one shot at the watchman before making their departure. The attempted robbery occurred shortly before 6 o'clock.

The safe, a small affair, was carried to the rear of the building. The burglars used a "pinch bar" to force the door, and just as they had succeeded in getting the safe open, Holter appeared. The burglars became frightened. They fired on Holter and then fled. Nothing was taken. The safe, according to attaches of the oil company contained only a small sum of money.

CONGRESSMEN NOW READY FOR RECESS; NO CHANCE HOWEVER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The days have come, when members of Congress long to get away, if for only a short time. The constant grind of committee work and daily attendance in the House has made their nerves a little raw. They feel much like the school boy in the springtime toward the close of the school year. There is much talk in the lobbies and smoking rooms about adjournment, but with the railroad and military bills still in committee and lacking form; they do not feel that they deserve a rest. However, it is expected that both of these bills will be out before recess or adjournment is taken. One thing certain, the bill for an army of 500,000 advocated by the War Department and championed by the Chairman of the Military Committee, will have little or no chance.

A great deal of erroneous impressions have been received by the American people about the league of nations from persons who were misinformed or prejudiced. The other day Senator Reed labored for four hours attempting to show that the British Empire with her six votes, has more power in the league than the United States with her one vote, but when he got through, the question still remained; if the verdict must be unanimous, how can the league do anything unless Uncle Sam casts his vote? It seems that the people of Oklahoma have had some experience with jury trials, and have taken little stock in his preaching for they know that one stubborn juror often held out to the last.

The Committee on Agriculture, after weeks of hearings covering almost a thousand pages of printed record, had the bill passed by the House in almost the same form it left the Committee. If this bill is passed by the Senate, the landlord will, at least, know how long meats and foods have been in cold storage, and will be able to tell his guests just how old the spring chickens are. The bill as passed by the House will not relieve the high cost of living as much as hoped for. However, it is a step in the right direction requiring cold-storage people to label the food, showing the date when it goes into storage, and makes it unlawful to keep foods in cold storage longer than 12 months. State prosecuting officers should be compelled to assume some of the responsibilities in the enforcement of anti-trust laws. Little hope can be expected from the Supreme Court of the United States, unless it reverses itself and makes all monopolies and restraints of trade unlawful as originally intended. Too many officers and local state prosecutors fail to enforce the anti-trust laws, perchance their enforcement might embarrass their neighbors. They may fool the people for a while, but when the people fully realize the cost of bananas and fruits, and that some of these fruit companies are making as high as 40 per cent profit, the local prosecutor will then realize, probably too late, that some of the burden of enforcement of the anti-trust laws rests upon state as well as Federal officers.

INJURED WHEN PLANE FALLS
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 6.—F. M. Deed, pilot, sustained a broken nose and Leonard Hays, passenger, a broken leg when the airplane in which they were flying fell several hundred feet at the Poland Country club near here Saturday.

PLANS TO RECLAIM STATE WASTE LAND

Engineer Miller Says 4,500 Acres Can Be Restored at St. Mary's Lake.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 6.—A project whereby 4,500 acres of waste land in Ohio, valued at more than $900,000 can be reclaimed with comparatively slight expense has been advanced by John I. Miller, state Superintendent of public works.

The land in question lies along the south shore of Lake St. Marys, Auglaize and Mercer counties, in western Ohio, in the midst of the most fertile corn producing belt in the world.

At present it is a waste land. Properly drained it is highly productive, and worth $200 an acre.

These are the statements set forth by Superintendent Miller in his annual report to the governor, together with the recommendation that the general assembly at its next session enact legislation making reclamation of this tract of land possible.

"It is an economic enterprise, which will put hundreds of acres into a state of cultivation," he says. "In these days of high cost of living any effort that contributes to decreased cost of food-stuffs should commend itself to the thoughtful statesmanship of our government."

The south shore of the lake, according to the report, is low and swampy for a distance of ten miles, and when the lake is at high levels thousands of acres of alluvial lands submerged and other thousands are rendered useless even for pasturage, because they are continually saturated.

These lands belong to the state except in a few instances where lands lying below flood levels have been sold to private individuals.

Countless claims against the state for damages have resulted, while the land thus rendered useless adds nothing to the value of the lake as fishing grounds, and the water lying upon it adds nothing to the capacity for storage purposes because it is so shallow.

"It is merely one vast swamp, the abode of frogs and water snakes, the habitat of cat-tails and razor edged sedges and the breeding place for clouds of mosquitos and other water vermin," Mr. Miller relates.

The survey made by the department of public works, the superintendent said today, has been completed with the idea of working out a reclamation scheme whereby this vast tract of fertile land can be placed in a tillable condition and at least afford grazing lands where today there is only a wilderness.

PLANES MAY SCATTER SEEDS

WASHINGTON, October 4.—The Forestry Service was urged by Representative Charles H. Randall, California, to start a reforestation program for the fire-denuded areas in the Sierra Madre Range by using aeroplanes to scatter millions of tree seeds over these mountains as soon as the rainy season begins.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. This alone is enough to convince one that it is a medicine of more than ordinary merit. Give it a trial and you will find this to be the case.

LESS PRODUCTION MEANS INCREASED COST OF LIVING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Growing consciousness on the part of the general public of the disastrous effect which labor agitation and strikes have on the cost of living was noted in the review of September conditions, issued today by the federal reserve board.

"Public opinion," the review said, "appears to be awakening to the reaction which increased wages and decreased output may have upon commodity prices and the vicious circle which may result."

From several Federal Reserve districts it was reported also that there was a growing realization on the part of workmen that their interests are bound up with the interests of the community as a whole and that increased efficiency resulting in greater productivity, was imperative.

September Business Good

While labor unrest assumed the predominant place in the industrial situation during September nevertheless there was no interruption in the usual autumnal swell of business.

"The high retail prices prevailing," the Review stated, "do not appear as yet to have a noticeable effect in checking consumption and the demand for higher grade products continues."

Lessening of production by shortening of hours, decreased efficiency and disinclination to work more than part time, has tended to advance the general price level, but recessions were noted in certain foodstuffs, raw cotton, textiles and hides. The more conservative feeling noted in August continued, with moderation in prices being urged rather than the policy of exacting all the "traffic will bear."

In agriculture, the relatively unsatisfactory situation as to wheat was said to be compensated by the excellent prospects for corn. Deficiency of rainfall has damaged tobacco.

Further increases in building activity was noted.

For use at sea a Scotchman has invented a gyroscope mounting for a telescope and a chair for its user, which is claimed to keep the glass pointed at an object irrespective of the motion of a vessel carrying it.

WAS ADVISED TO USE NERV-WORTH BY TWO DOCTORS

Charles F. Johnson Makes Significant Signed Statement.

Mr. Johnson says that when advising himself and wife to take Nerv-Worth the doctors spoke of it as "fine medicine." Here is the story as given to the Columbus Nerv-Worth druggist not long ago.

The Mykranitz Co.—My wife and I have used Nerv-Worth with wonderful beneficial results. She had been troubled for years with severe nervousness. Pains in the back of her neck. Stomach and digestion in bad shape. Restless at night and very much run down.

I had serious nervous trouble. Tossed about the bed all night long and worn out by morning and it was pulling me down in strength and something had to be done to get relief as it was affecting my eyesight.

We both found it in Nerv-Worth, which put us in good shape and did it quick. It is a wonderful medicine and tonic and rid us of all our nervous troubles. We both eat and sleep well and enjoy good health. We recommend Nerv-Worth to all. It was recommended to us by two doctors.

ANOTHER ATTACK TO BE MADE ON TRUSTS BY U. S.

Batteries of Department of Justice Squared Away to Enforce Law

STEEL CASE ON LIST

Supreme Court Will Hear
Evidence Against Corporation Early in October

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 6.—
The batteries of the department of justice are being squared away for another attack on the trusts.

In other words, the prosecution of trusts, suspended during the war, is to be resumed by the federal government. Attorney General Palmer has instructed the attorneys under him to see that the Sherman anti-trust law is enforced without fear or favor. The supreme court, which will reconvene Oct. 6 has set down for hearing all the trust cases before it on appeal except the so-called Quaker Oats case. The court will open its fall session by listening to arguments in the trust cases before it.

Steel Case is First

The case against the United States Steel corporation is the first one on the docket. Following it the court will take up the case in which the government seeks to have the American Can Co. adjudged a monopoly and following that the court will hear argument in the government's case against the Eastman Kodak Co.
Several other cases involving alleged violations of the Sherman antitrust law are on the court's docket
and will be argued in October or November. All these cases were tried in the lower courts before the United States entered the war and had been appealed to the supreme court
prior to April 1917.

The exigencies of war caused the government to call a halt in all prosecutions under the Sherman anti-trust law. At the request of the attorney general the supreme court refrained from setting any of the trust cases for argument during the progress of the war. This period of inactivity continued until recently when the attorney general let it be known that he would expect the supreme court to proceed with all the cases.

Since the case against the United States Steel corporation is the first one that is to come up for oral argument, it is assumed that it will be the first case decided, and that the decision in that case will to a considerable extent become the guide of the department of justice in determining on future prosecutions under the Sherman anti-trust law. In any event according to the attorneys in the department of justice
the decision in the steel case, in the American Can Co. case and in the Eastman Kodak Co. case certainly will reveal to the government whether it can hope to have other corporations against which it is proceeding declared monopolies.

SLAUGHTERING PAY
The farmer with one or two cows
for sale at $5 a hundred can well afford to butcher a beef according to meat specialists at the Ohio State University. With the cheapest cuts of beefing meats retailing from 15 to 20 cents a pound and the better cuts from 20 to 30 cents the entire carcase is not likely to cost
the farmer more than 17 cents a pound, with a dressing percentage of 50 percent. The hide of a steer weighing from 1,000 to 1,200 pounds is worth from $15 to $20 and will pay many times for the cost of slaughtering
by a butcher. Many farmers find that they can sell their meat or divide with neighbors.

BIG INCREASE IN TRADE WITH MEXICO SHOWN

End of War Brought Sharp
Competition for Business
From United States

NEW STEAMSHIP LINE

Strenuous Efforts Being Made to Stabilize Transportation Conditions

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
MEXICO CITY, Oct. 6.—Despite conditions popularly regarded in the United States as uninviting to American trade expansion here, business between that country and Mexico shows a decided upward trend. During the fiscal year just closed, imports and exports between the two republics amounted to more than $31,000,000 pesos, according to figures given The Associated Press by W. F. Saunders, secretary of the American chamber of commerce in Mexico City.

Vast Exports to U. S.
Of this amount 376,000,000 pesos represents exports from Mexico and 164,000,000 pesos represents imports. Previous to the current fiscal year, the banner period of Mexican-United States business was in 1911, when 102,000,000 pesos worth of goods were exported from Mexico and 146,000,000 pesos worth were imported.

"Deducting amounts representing petroleum exportations which are not considered in the ordinary run of commercial business, and for increased values of goods, these figures indicate clearly that trade is increasing," said Mr. Saunders. "Mexico will spend more than $150,000,000 in the United States during the year 1919, with imports of hardware, machinery, drugs and dry goods leading all others. During the month of August we received more than 700 letters from firms who intimated intentions of establishing branches here."

War Brought Competition
"The end of the war has brought sharp competition for Mexican business. It is interesting to note in this connection that sentiment is giving way to sound business in dealings with the Germans. It will be remembered that during the war a referendum vote of chamber of commerce members favored a commercial boycott of Germany after the war. This has been forgotten here and German firms, who are conceded to have the firmest hold on the hardware business in the republic, are buying practically all of their supplies from American dealers. Japanese competition is negligible."

New Steamship Line
A strenuous effort is being made to stabilize transportation conditions which present the most serious obstacles to trading. Congestion of freight at Nuevo Laredo for transmission to Mexico City still exists but within the past few weeks arrangements have been made by three concerns here for the operation of "special freights" between the two points. A new steamship line between Vera Cruz and New Orleans will also open for business next month.

A Sensible Solution

THE REPRESENTATIVE organizations of the city that have appointed members of a general committee to attempt to find the right solution to the electric light and street car controversy in Lima have taken a long step in the right direction.

The Times is heartily in favor of the plan to have these gentlemen, all of whom are successful business men and used to making contracts every day, carefully consider what is right and fair for both the city and the electric company, and then pass their judgment upon the proposals.

This is the business-like, the sensible plan to follow and the Times believes that when this committee goes through with its work it will have found a solution to the perplexing problem that will be as near satisfactory to all parties to the controversy as a proper finding could well be.

This newspaper does not believe that it is fair and right to continually harass a public utility company, without giving that company a fair deal.

The Ohio Electric has been woefully lacking in all that goes to make up a business-like public utility corporation. In the past it has absolutely ignored Lima. Its president evidently did not know such a city existed and that we had needs in the way of electrical and street car service that were urgent. The Ohio Electric has failed to perform its part of the contract. And the people of Lima know it and are "sore" at the treatment they have received.

On the other hand, Lima is a city growing by leaps and bounds. It is reaching out in all directions; it is destined to become not only a large city, but AN IMPORTANT CITY.

But to grow, to succeed, it must have adequate street car service. It must have ample electrical power, always ready for a new industry or one that is to be expanded. It must be flexible.

Lima can not thrive without its public utilities, BUT—these utilities are only entitled to a fair return on their investment dependent upon their giving adequate service.

We like the plan to let the price of street car tickets every six months, based entirely upon a fair showing of the company's books.

But best of all we like the spirit of the Lima organizations that have stepped into what looked like an insurmountable breach and have agreed to act, in a way, as arbiters.

We look for the whole controversy to be settled within a reasonable time and believe the committee's work will meet with the approval of the people of the city, generally.

It is a big undertaking, but the men who are undertaking it are not afraid of a little hard work. Success to them.

The Fall Harvest Sale

THERE IS something more than mere merchandising in the Fall Harvest Sale that is being held in Lima commencing Wednesday, regular Suburban Day, and continuing through Saturday night.

Lima merchants have grown to appreciate the vast resources of the Lima trading district have found it not only profitable, but pleasant, to have the trade of this huge territory come to this city.

Friendships have been formed that mean something more than mere dollars and cents values to the merchant, who sells, and the customer, who buys.

The past season has been a bounteous one for the people who live in the country and the small towns have benefitted as well. We can't prosper unless the country folks are well off, and that is why the Times likes to see its former friends riding in good automobiles and enjoying life just as much as the folks who happen to live in the more congested districts.

During the week handsome prizes are to be awarded for the best farm products shown, but as we have stated the real value of this Sale Week is going to be the new friendships formed and the old ones cemented.

Lima is always a good city to visit, during the coming week this statement is going to be supplemented by the addition of the words, and a profitable point to trade in.

The Prince of Wales

EVIDENTLY there is a good deal of interest in the approaching visit of the Prince of Wales to this country. The editors are receiving many letters of inquiry concerning the gentleman, which shows that the newspaper reader especially wants to know more about him, or at least is generally known. Here, for instance, is a letter asking why the heir to the British throne is called the Prince of Wales.

A little more than six hundred years ago a British prince, heir to the throne, was born at Caernarvon, Wales. Prince Edward, afterward Edward I. Tradition has it that the father of the boy presented the child to the Welsh as their native prince "who could not speak a word of English."

Then, in 1301, Edward III so history runs, "invested his son, the Black Prince, with the principality of Wales." From that good day to this better day, the eldest son of the British monarch has borne the title "Prince of Wales."

Incidentally, it is not customary to shake hands with the prince when you are introduced to him, although in these democratic days the precedent may have been set aside. Neither must one turn his back upon the prince until well without his presence. If you are introduced to him, just make a low salaam, and back away, if you want to comply with the ethics of royalty. But if you want to be a plain American citizen, fearing only God and having a just regard for your own self-respect, treat him as you would any other prominent young man who is behaving himself—and go about your business.

HAPPY THOUGHT—Charity, of course, begins at home, but a lot of people keep it there all the time.

All we've seen yet of Ludendorff's history of the war leads us to believe that the main trouble Germany had was getting all her generals and arms and ships and things—all of which were a lot better than all the Allies put together—to working together well enough to lick us.

GOOD EVENING—One of the worst troubles now-a-days is that when a fellow finds a shoe that fits, the price doesn't.

The Times' Family Doctor

HOW BACTERIA CAUSE DISEASE AND SCIENCE COMBATS THEM

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (John Hopkins University)

"Why is a hiccup like the popping of air from a cup?" was asked me in all seriousness. The answer, of course, is that a hiccup is not like that. It is the association of ideas; of connecting a man in his cups with the other name of hiccups, such as "hiccups," that promoted the odd query.

It is also recalled that when you have hiccups or hicups, the sudden expulsion or popping out, the belching forth of the stomach gases—gastritis, by the way, means inflammation of the "gastrum" or stomach, and has nothing to do with gases—sounds like "git up" or "git out" or "hic cup."

Be that as it may, a hiccup is a sudden, short, convulsive sucking or "breathing" in or swallowing of air attended with the characteristic sound you know. This sound is produced by the clicking together of your windpipe or palate. It is all due to a spasm-like movement of the diaphragm—the partition between the lungs and above the stomach and liver below.

The clicking together of your glottis or windpipe valve shuts off abruptly the air that is being sucked in, and several seconds elapse before the suction ceases and the "hic comes off."

Spasms of hiccups may last a few minutes, several hours, a day, weeks or even months. The period and the intervals depend upon the cause.

An over-full or a dilated stomach gives origin to hicups. Hence a sot, a "pig" and a gourmand are apt to be upon terms of intimacy with this affection.

The over-distention of the stomach by eating excessively of sugar or starch, which ferment and cause an evolution of gases, all cause these paroxysms.

Very obstinate hiccupping arises when "peritonitis" or inflammations inside the stomach walls are taking place. Therefore, when maladies of the lungs, such as pneumonia or tuberculosis extend into the abdomen, when the liver, the "diaphragm" itself, the kidneys, the appendix or other nearby tissues become covered with matter and other foreign substances, persistent hiccupping which endures for weeks may appear.

Slight attacks of hiccupping may be cured by drawing a deep breath and then holding it as long as you can. This causes a tone or rigidity of the "diaphragm" partition, which remains contracted beyond the intervals of hiccupping.

Similarly sipping one hundred drops of water as rapidly as possible often interrupts the spasms and stops the nuisance.

In more severe cases the cause must be removed, the stomach appropriately washed out or treated, and if exhaustion is great, laughing gas or ether must be given to produce sleep.

Answers to Health Questions.

S. B. Q.—What can I do for flushing and blushing?

A.—Emotions, glands, substances which flow into the blood, excess of cold or heat, self-consciousness, all cause the arteries and veins to expand and thus cause flushing and blushing. If you will learn to control the muscles of your face and thereby not allow the arteries and veins to expand you will prevent the blushing and flushing.

A. B. H. Q.—What can I do for improper breathing?

A.—You should have your nose and throat examined by a nose and throat surgeon to find the exact cause before proper treatment can be given.

FRECKLES AND BROWNIE. Q.—What can I do for falling hair?

A.—A little of the following may be tried on alternate nights by rubbing into the scalp with a stiff-bristle brush:

Fluid extract pilocarpine 1 dram
Tincture of cantharides . ½ dram
Tincture of capsicum . . 1 dram
Quinine sulphate 1 dram
Rosewater 1 ounce
Distilled water 3 ounces

GRACE D. Q.—What can I use to darken my eyebrows and eyelashes?

2.—My eyes have a darkened look. What can I do for them?

A.—Perhaps one of the best ways to darken the eyelashes and eyebrows is with pomade noir, which is a dark, soft wax in a tube. Moscara is also much used.

2.—A pinch of boric acid in a wineglass of water is very good for the eyes. Bathe them with this to brighten them.

OUR BED-TIME STORY

FOR TINY TIMES-DEMOCRAT FOLKS

When Ladydear finally decided that Jack and Jane and Captain Brave and she would have to leave Rob and Ruth and Mrs. Salter and return to the Widow Aar's Mrs. Salter said: "I have a few little trinkets for you to take home if you will not mind carrying them." And she hustled into a closet to get the things.

Jack and Jane, because they were little folk, received their presents first. Each got a pair of the prettiest mittens you can imagine and a pair of little moccasins to wear around the house in wintertime. All were made out of chamois skin.

Now, although the children have been in Switzerland for several weeks, I haven't told you what a chamois is. Well, the chamois is the famous animal of that little country. It's something like a goat. It lives in the mountains, leaping around over the rocks and across great crevasses and from cliff to cliff as if it wasn't at all afraid of slipping and falling to its death.

It is awfully hard to shoot because it has such a wonderful nose—it can smell hunters miles away if the wind is blowing the right direction. It is practically useless to attempt to get near the chamois if seen, for the animal can almost fly over the mountain sides while the hunter climbs slowly from one slope to another.

The hide of the chamois, when cleaned up and fixed a certain way, makes the softest leather in the world. This was the kind of leather Mrs. Salter had used in making the mittens and moccasins for the children.

For Ladydear, Mrs. Salter had made a pair of moccasins, too, and a beautiful handbag. The handbag was of little strips of the skin, woven just like cloth. The strips had been colored many different shades. Captain Brave received a pair of great-gloves, long ones that came over his wrists. They were lined with soft wool fleece. "You must use them when you drive the airplane in cold weather," said Mrs. Salter. "I wish I could give all of you millions of dollars worth of lovely things to show you how much I want to thank you for saving little Ruth's life."

"You mustn't feel that way," said Ladydear, "for you have shown the children a most wonderful time and I know they are awfully glad to have two more little friends like Rob and Ruth."

Jack and Jane tried to say something nice to Mrs. Salter and Rob and Ruth as they walked out to the airplane, but there was a big lump in Jack's throat and a bigger one in Jane's.

A few minutes later the plane swept into the air and the children and their friends were bound back to the Widow Aar's house.

GREGG'S FALL HARVEST SALE

A Word to the Buying Public of Lima and Vicinity

These days of re-construction are days of uncertain values and the buying public is confused in their judgment. Many merchants thru out the country are taking advantage of this condition and running "sales," using pages and pages of newspaper space to tell the public of the wonderful "bargains" to be had at their stores. The thinking people realize that this comparative price juggling does not mean anything and are not attracted by this method of merchandising.

This store has always maintained the policy of offering standard merchandise at the lowest possible prices. We do not take advantage of every turn of the market to raise our prices but always give our customers the benefit of our advantageous purchases. We are now in a position to offer our patrons, without exception the best merchandise at the lowest possible prices. Our stock was well bought and will be sold only on an honest legitimate margin of profit. Think it over— at which store do you want to buy? The one that is forever juggling prices in order to confuse you or the other. R. T. Gregg & Co.

Child Welfare Association Prepares For a Big Drive

—By H. E. HALL—

What have they done?

What's back of all this fuss and feathers?

Who's the sable-hued gentleman in the wood-pile?

If this were a political article these and a thousand other pertinent queries might be dug up and hurled at the devoted heads of this one of Lima's civic institutions that has a proud contempt for all politics which feeds and fattens only on its own, and is engaged in abusing the rights of the common people instead of serving them—as they should.

The Allen County Child Welfare Association acknowledges allegiance to no political creed, nor is it bound by any civic rules calculated to affect one way or another any public utility measure or its instigators.

Its candidate for the highest office in the human gift is "Happy Healthy Children." On its tickets are no aldermanic misfits, no political henchmen with hunches, no councilmen with troubled consciences; no representatives of plutocratic private interests in big public utility enterprises. When its campaign is officially launched on the 9th of October, next Thursday, its tickets, typical of the innocent baby and childhood they represent will be of origin white and will bear neither political nor heraldic device.

These tickets, or more properly "tags" will simply suggest to the wearer and his friends in the street—"I Love a Little Child,"—and he to whom falls the honor of wearing one of them may surely feel for the nonce!

"I am one of God's Anointed for what says the Savior?"

"And he took a child, and set him in the midst of them, and when He had taken him in His arms, he said unto them: 'Whoever shall receive one of such children in my name, receiveth me.'"

Lima church, mission, club and in fact every form of altruistic effort is as one unit on this question of Child Welfare.

On its board of directors which has just been enlarged to admit Mr. Howard P. Dean, to direct the financial features of the membership campaign and drive next week, are men and women representing all classes of local social and business effort. There is a minister of the Gospel, a doctor of both the two leading systems of modern healing, two ex-nurses of more than ordinary repute, a woman of business, another distinguished as a worker on a half dozen local boards of women interested in young girls of the working classes, and a prominent local man of affairs.

On its staff of helpers which it has gradually added, from time to time as it could afford the outlay were during the summer, more than a dozen specialists in one or another form of Child Welfare effort, and now, at all times a Field Worker of National renown, and a Rural Nurse, following up the good work begun early in the year by the state representative, Miss Anna Cunningham.

Scarcely any resident of Lima in whose family there are little ones, will be unfamiliar with the great work of this organization, but it may not be amiss to recall a few of their accomplishments here.

The subject of school attendance was the first that concerned the society in a big way, aside from its constantly recurring help given little ones and their mothers through Miss Moore, the Field Worker, or her assistants. The "Back to School Drive" the feature of children's year in the United States last year, was splendidly conducted in Lima and the county through the loyal co-operation of both Superintendents Collins, of the City and Arganbright, of the County schools.

So thorough was the work last year, that six for the to be expected difficulties at Whittier where the attendance is a largely of the foreign type, the few delinquents elsewhere were practically all rounded up. Indeed the only one such at Central High school it was found was a girl, who had moved from the city without the knowledge of her instructors.

There has been nothing heard of delinquents so far this year from which it is argued that the number may be very few, or indeed "nil." Few cities in America can boast of any such record.

In contrast, mention to this record recall the Cleveland, Ohio, experience at the beginning of school 1918-1919. Of the 15,000 registered it was stated that 6,000 were delinquents. It is surely something to be very proud of and no doubt all good Limaites are becomingly so.

Then there were the prize winners in the essay writing contests. Why should a boy or girl remain in school? Interest was awakened all over the county and the officials were deluged with bright snappy letters setting forth in juvenile language the reasons. And they are good, too. It is a pleasant reflection for the suburban residents to realize that their little all the prizes were taken by the young literary folk of the rural schools.

The big membership drive of last year netted $14,900 for the organization. The county too did wonderful work under the direction of its many public spirited women at the head of the district groups.

The county is better organized than ever this year, and will be more efficient if possible than ever. Because of the many developments of the past six or seven months in the rural districts these include the good work of Miss Ida F. Atwell the Rural Nurse who has been making a systematic examination and follow up of Miss Cunningham patients of the earlier year and that of the Association officials in the County Fair where many county mothers with their children were introduced into many mysteries of making up health off-springs of weak anatomy and listless subjects.

In all sections of the city patients have excellent cause to bless the work of the Child Welfare Association for hundreds of little ones were given opportunities and chances at play and recreation they would never have known otherwise.

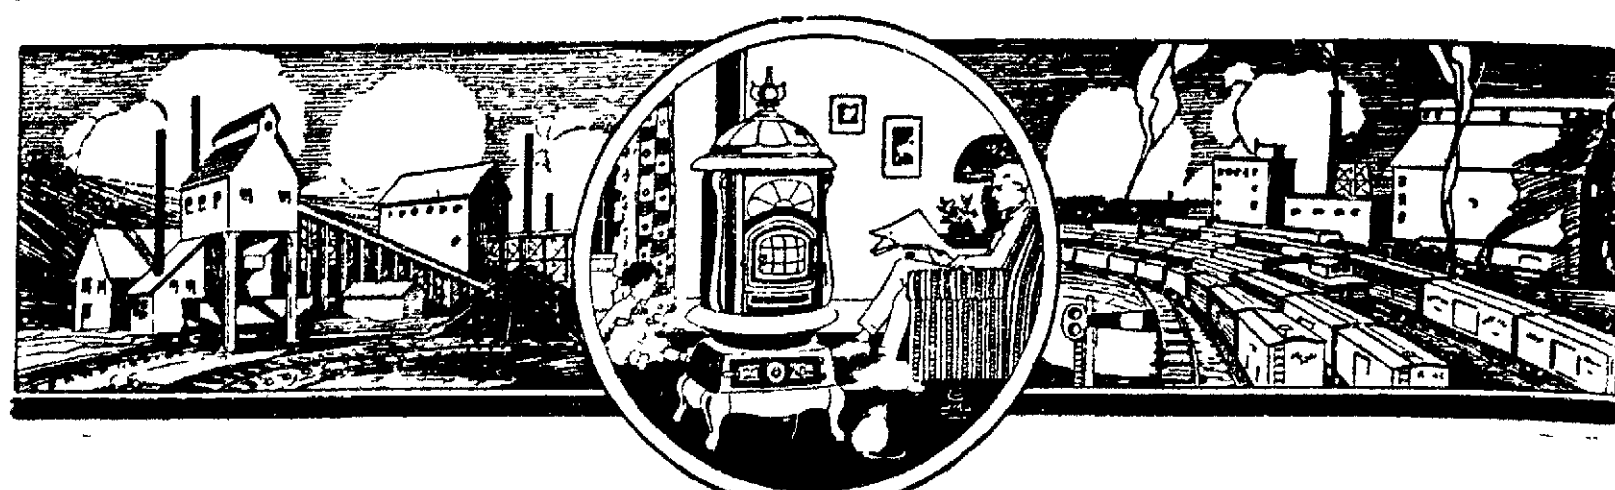

At the two City Parks, Supervisor Isenbarger and his assistants conducted several prize winning contests, and at the play grounds of Garfield, Horace Mann, and Whittier, play hours and apparatus furnished recreation for many more hundreds in those sections.

The Association is planning to broaden all phases of its playground work, and of developing all other good measures. With the continued approval and good will of the public manifested on its "Campaigns" this is always possible.

"Here's to the Child Welfare Association may its good work grow as rapidly as its healthiest juvenile members."

Constipation.
The beginning of almost every serious disorder is constipation. If you want to enjoy good health keep your bowels regular. This is best accomplished by proper diet and exercise, but sometimes a medicine is needed and when that is the case you will find Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent. They are mild and gentle in their action, easy and pleasant to take. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter. m-w-f

BRITISH AIRPLANE ROUTES TO COVER THEIR VAST EMPIRE

LONDON.—That passengers are eagerly awaiting the establishment of airplane routes to distant points in the British Empire is shown by the requests for 7 tickets received by a company which operates an airplane line from Folkestone to Paris. On the day when service opened the office of the company was besieged by inquirers seeking bookings for all parts of the world. One wanted to make a trip to Venice and another demanded a ticket to Cairo. Persons with relatives or interests in India have made numerous inquiries to learn how soon it will be possible for them to go there by airplane.

PEOPLE BURY APPLES TO BEAT HIGH PRICES

The prospect of high prices for apples next winter is causing many people to put their supply in pits, where a suitable cellar is not available. It is suggested that they be placed in barrels sunk in the soil below the frost line in a well-drained location.

Ben Davis apples keep the best through changing temperatures, although the Russet, Gano, Rome Beauty, and York Imperial may be stored in pits. The thin skin of the Grimes Golden, Jonathan, and Delicious does not make it advisable to store them in this way.

Since apples decay almost directly in proportion to the heat with which they come in contact, it is advisable that they be stored as soon as picked.

In the fall a light covering of burlap or old carpet may be placed over the barrel. In winter more covering should be applied, and during mid-winter the pit should be well-covered with straw.

THE New Studebaker Cars are the final result of the combined experience and genius of the entire Studebaker staff—among the ablest men known to the automobile industry.

A Worth While Testimonial

Pasadena, Calif., Sept. 28, 1919
Hawisher-Henizer Co.

Gentlemen:—

Now that I am settled in the Golden State, I feel that you are entitled to an acknowledgment of the service I got from the car I bought from you, and will say there may be better cars but none could possibly have given better service. As you will remember we got the car early in July and drove it down to the Atlantic coast and then back to Toledo and through to the Pacific coast, and never stopped the engine for any purpose what-so-ever nor had a loose nut or screw and I will say we went over some roads that looked impassable and no car passed us on the way. My folks said if we got to California the car would not sell for junk, but we have had it cleaned up and driven it since here 400 or 500 miles and it runs better than ever.

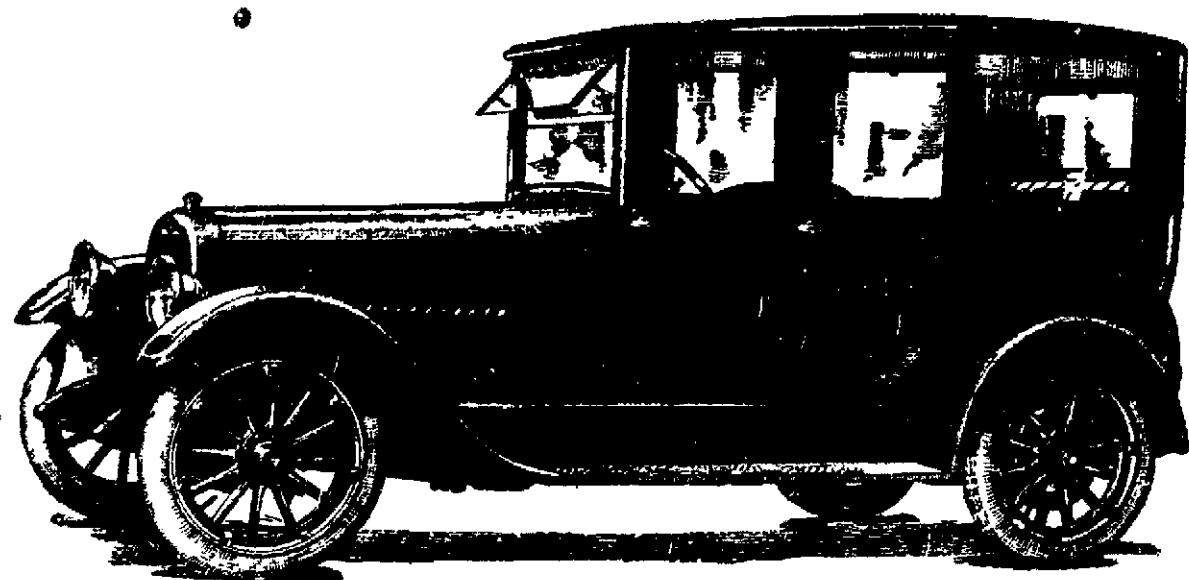

Owing to the scarcity of the heavy six Studebakers here, I think I could sell it for first cost now. No objections to your showing this letter in your business if you wish.

The roads here are a dream. Have not been off roads in this State that were not better than the best paved street in Lima.

My regards to the balance of the boys, and if you care to write me I will appreciate it.

Very truly,

E. W. JACKSON,
344 N. Maringo Ave.
Pasadena, Calif.

SKYSCRAPERS ARE BECOMING GREAT NEED IN LONDON

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
LONDON.—The old question of whether London is to have skyscrapers is being revived because of the high price of property in the business section and the lack of space in office buildings.

The government buildings in Whitehall are four stories high but it has been found necessary to add a story to the War Office to meet the demands of the department. One well known architect in touch with the government's plans expressed the opinion that unless the new and the old ministries were content to do their work outside of the area devoted to governmental activities, skyscrapers were inevitable in Whitehall.

Generally speaking, however, London does not like tall buildings. Percy Lubbock, past president of the Society of Architects, declared that if the skyscraper was to come it would be necessary to widen the streets.

"But, space in London is not so scarce as it is in New York which is in a bind," he said. "I think the traffic problem will not become so unwieldy that we shall be afraid to let London expand any further; outward and we will be compelled to expand it upwards. Personally I always feel that where skyscrapers crowd the man in street moves in the bottom of a well."

A building which is who are here, cutting a huge department store have repeatedly asked for permission to extend the main building high enough to accommodate not only the present business of the concern but to provide for the future, and have met with no encouragement whatever.

BRAZILIANS DRINK COFFEE, NOT FOND OF STRONG DRINK

RIO DE JANEIRO.—Should prohibition ever become effective in Brazil it is probable that few Brazilians would be greatly affected by it. The Brazilian apparently does not care for strong drink.

Coffee is the national beverage and the coffee shops are among the interesting sights of the city. They are to be found everywhere but are especially numerous in the downtown section and along the principal avenues.

The shops are on the street floor, are wide open and contain numerous small tables. Excellent coffee, generally black and strong, is served in tiny cups at the uniform price equivalent to about 2 1/2 cents a cup.

It is in these shops and while sipping their coffee that many Brazilians discuss business or social affairs and also watch the passing throngs. Many of the shops remain open all night and are well patronized. In fact some of them contain more patrons at 2 a. m. than at any other time. Nearly all of the coffee shops carry an abundant stock of alcoholic liquors, but there is little call for it.

The school dramatic society was giving its first performance of the season and the play they had chosen for the momentous occasion was "Julius Caesar."

All went smoothly till Caesar's dead body was brought in and Marc Antony had to deliver his famous speech.

He put his heart into the part and the audience felt acutely for the poor citizens who were all presumably horror-stricken and overcome with grief when Antony gently but firmly grasped as he thought the face cloth and slowly very slowly began to draw it back.

Just then an excited whisper came from the other end of the corps. "This end, you idiot!" Put Antony was too much wrapped in grief to hear. He persevered and then suddenly disclosed to the intent-gazing audience Caesar's boots!—Eastern Free Press

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT WALK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her to Health.

Perth Amboy, N.J. — "For three years I suffered with a severe female trouble, was nervous, had backache and a pain in my side most of the time. I had dizzy spells and was often so faint I could not walk across the floor. The doctor said I would have to have an operation. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in my newspaper, and tried it. Now I am better, feel strong, have no pains, backache or dizzy spells. Every one tells me how well I look, and I tell them to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—that is what makes me feel well and look well. I recommended it to my sister and she is using it now. You can use this letter if you wish, for it is certainly a grand remedy for a woman's ills." — Mrs. MARTHA STANISLAWSKI, 624 Penn St., Perth Amboy, N.J.

For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

SEEKS TO ASSESS COSTS OF CANAL

Welty Bill Provides for Vote on Meeting Part of Waterway Expense

COLUMBUS, Oct. 6.—A bill of which Congressman S. F. Welty, of Lima is the author, and which is to be introduced into the general assembly probably this winter, providing means for obtaining a canal from Lake Erie to the Ohio River, is understood to be practically complete.

Government surveys of the four proposed routes have already been authorized and data is now being gathered as to the tonnage available along the several proposed routes, together with the cost of construction.

The survey is being made under Col. Lansing H. Beach, government engineer, with headquarters at Cincinnati, while the superintendent of public works John I. Miller is co-operating in behalf of the state.

The bill as written by Congressman Welty, provides for the establishment of a "canal zone" to extend twenty-five miles on both sides of whichever route is finally adopted.

Voters in the zone will then decide at an election whether or not they will bond themselves to meet a portion of the expense necessary to construction of the waterway, the government and the state will also share the cost in proportions that have not yet been determined.

In this, it follows the plans already adopted for constructing county ditches whereby the cost of improvement is borne partially by the persons benefited.

Four routes are under consideration. The first from Toledo to Cincinnati, following the Miami and Maumee rivers, with a branch from Chicago, via Fort Wayne, intersecting at Defiance.

That known as the proposed central route is from Sandusky to Port Clinton, passing through Columbus and along the Scioto and Sandusky rivers.

The proposed route from Cleveland along the Cuyahoga, Tuscarawas and Muskingum rivers, passes through Coshocton, with a branch to Lockbourne, south of Columbus, and thence to Portsmouth, while the so-called eastern route connects Pittsburgh with Ashtabula, following the Beaver and Mahoning rivers.

Maps of these various routes are now being prepared at the offices of the superintendent of public works. "The project is highly important as part of the water power conservation and flood prevention program," Mr. Miller said. "The construction of levees, and reservoirs along any of these routes will be of vast benefit to the state."

HERE'S GOOD NEWS FOR BUCKEYE ORCHARDISTS

Apple blotch which has been causing an annual loss of thousands of dollars in Ohio and which has been increasing rapidly for several years is being controlled. Demonstrations in Clermont county this year, in co-operation with the farm bureau and the Agricultural College Extension Service, show that spraying with bordeaux mixture has been most 100 percent effective.

The first application of the mixture is made two weeks after the petal-fall and continued for two or three applications at intervals of about two weeks. Since the blotch infects the twigs as well as the apples and as the blotched twigs are the sources from which the disease reoccurs each year, it is necessary to keep infection from the twigs as well as the fruit. The cankers probably remain alive for three years so that it is necessary to continue the spray program at least this long, even after the fruit remains unblemished.

Men troubled with blotch in their orchards can well afford to do considerable twig pruning this winter, according to horticulturists, in order that a large number of cankers can be removed.

Invented by a New York man, a camera attachment permits up to eight different photographs being taken on the same film without interference.

TWO JAILED FOR MAKING FAIR WEI

MARYSVILLE, O., Oct. 6.—C. A. Burke, who operates a restaurant at Toledo, and J. E. Short, of Troy, were arrested by Special Officer Pfarr, of Marysville, on the charge of selling whiskey at the Richwood fair. They each pleaded guilty before Mayor Baumgartner and in default of bond were placed in the county jail to await the action of the grand jury.

BURGARS TAKE HAM

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 6.—High cost of living has changed the methods of thieves and burglars here. Instead of stealing jewelry and silverware, burglars are stealing shoes, hams, eggs and bread. During the past week fifty persons whose houses have been burglarized have reported the loss of shoes and foodstuffs, but found their valuables intact.

An Agreeable Surprise.

"About three years ago when I was suffering from a severe cold on my lungs and coughed most of the time night and day, I tried a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was surprised at the promptness with which it gave me relief," writes Mrs. James Brown, Clark Mills, N. Y. "Many another has been surprised and pleased with the prompt relief afforded by this remedy."

The Gramm-Bernstein Motor Truck Co.
Lima, Ohio.

Regarding the 1 1/2 ton Gramm-Bernstein Truck I am using at the Letcher Standard Oil Station will say that I have not had one cent of repairs to buy, not even a spark plug. Besides hauling a tank full of gasoline on the truck, I generally carry a trailer behind with a half ton or ton of lubricating oil on it.

As you know the country around Let-cher is very wet and sandy which makes the hardest kind of pulling, especially as I have hard tires all around. If anyone don't believe this just let them drive a load on my route, behind me. In spite of this fact though I have had no trouble in getting through in good shape.

The mileage register on my hub shows that I have gone 2785 miles since July 1st and in spite of the sandy and wet roads I get about 12 1/2 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

I have operated a number of other makes of trucks but what I like about the Gramm-Bernstein is that I can make my 75 to 100 miles every day without the lay-ups
for breakdowns or heavy repair expenses
I have had on other trucks and I would consider my Gramm-Bernstein a good investment even if it cost more money, than it does.

Respectfully yours,

LARGE INCREASE IN CLOTHES AND FARM PRODUCTS

These Commodities Show
Greatest Advance in Past Six Years.

RAISES AFTER WAR

Average Indicates Buying Power of Dollar Has Dropped to 48½ Cents.

Clothing and farm products have increased in price more in the past six years than any other groups of commonly used commodities, according to statistics compiled by the bureau of labor statistics. These figures also show clearly what everyone has experienced—that instead of decreasing in price with the end of the war, practically everything has advanced in price.

Using 100 as the index number for all commodities in 1913, figures for the end of the half-year 1919 shows that clothing has jumped from 100 to 250, farm products from 100 to 230, house furnishings, 241; food, 201, fuel and lighting, 180; lumber and building materials, 171; chemicals and drugs, 163, and miscellaneous (cotton seed meal, molasses, lubricating oil, news-print paper, rubber, starch, soap, plug tobacco, and wood pulp), increased from 100 to 214.

The average for all commodities is 206, which is to say that it takes $2.06 to purchase now what $1 would purchase before the war. Or in other words, the value of the dollar has dropped from 100 cents purchasing power to 48½ cents purchasing power.

Fluctuation of Food.

Food shows the greatest fluctuation in price and the biggest variations in price have been since the signing of the armistice last November. The index number of food for that month was 203, the highest it had ever reached. In December it went to 207, but dropped back to 204 in January and in February fell to 193, the lowest since August, 1918. But the food price shot back up to 200 in March, went to 207 in April, to 211 in May and then fell 10 points in June.

Comparing prices in 1919 with those of a year ago, farm products have increased from 214 to 230; food from 179 to 201; cloths and clothing from 243 to 250; fuel and lighting from 171 to 180, lumber and building materials from 148 to 171 and house furnishings from 193 to 231. Metals and metal products dropped from 177 to 154 and chemicals and drugs from 207 to 163.

Jan Paderewski Forgets How To Play the Piano

PARIS, Sept. 2.—In a recent interview Ignace Jan Paderewski volunteered the information that he had quite forgotten how to play the piano.

The journalist, after asking the Polish premier numerous questions relating to the political situation in Poland, finally queried:

"And your art, Mr. President, have you given it up completely?"

"Yes," replied the former artist, "I have forgotten it. I have little time to think of it. I have not played a piano for two years and three months. I do not regret it." Then he added with a tinge of pride: "I am happy to have sacrificed to the cause of my country what I held most dear."

The Fountain of Youth --MILK

It Produces Growth and Development
for the Child and Health and Energy
for the Adult.

Milk is a necessary fuel to every human machine. Every act of the body and every thought of the mind is made possible by the motive power of food. Whether we relish the comparison or not, the human body, is a machine.

MILK. It is the perfect food. There is none other which can compete with this plebian of the diet.

The great authorities have been long since quite agreed that the cow's milk matches the standard for a perfect food and that it has attained this standard entirely alone.

There is something mystifying about milk which baffles even the scientists and they cannot say with definite precision just what properties in milk cause it to be essential for the growth, nourishment, health and efficiency of mankind, but the presence of these properties has been proven beyond dispute.

Don't drink milk! Eat it. Take as much time with a glass of milk as you would with a quarter pound of beef steak. The milk has the same food value. If you take it slowly you will get the full enjoyment of its deliciously sweet flavor.

NEW WAR STAMPS ARE POPULAR INVESTMENT

Government Securities in $100 and $1,000 Denominations Please the Farmers.

Columbus, O. — (Special.) — War Savings Stamps in $100 and $1,000 denominations, known as Treasury Savings Certificates, promised to become the most popular security ever offered by the government. The issue which was promised for July 1 is just off the government presses and is being rapidly circulated in postoffices and banks.

The new $100 and $1,000 certificates are proving especially attractive to farmers.

War Savings Stamps in the $100 and $1,000 denominations are being sold for the first time, not primarily as a matter of patriotism, but as a matter of business investment.

Treasury Savings Certificates are notes of the United States government, a first, direct obligation on its treasury and on the entire resources and taxing power of the United States government. Now that they are available in $100 and $1,000 form, they may be said to have several important advantages over the various Liberty bond issues.

The $100 Treasury Savings Certificates are available through postoffices and the $1,000 Certificates through the banks.

Age of Birds.

Some birds live to a great age. The age of 90 is known to have been reached by a gray parrot, and there are many statements of birds of the parrot family having lived for a century. The raven also is credited with having reached 100 years. The domestic goose is another long-lived bird. Many instances are known of geese attaining 40 years. — Louisville Courier-Journal.

Constipation.

The beginning of almost every serious disorder is constipation. If you want to enjoy good health keep your bowels regular. This is best accomplished by proper diet and exercise, but sometimes a medicine is needed and when that is the case you will find Chamberlain's Tablets an excellent. They are mild and gentle in their action, easy and pleasant to take. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.

SPORTS—BASEBALLLocals Play Best Game of Season, But Are Defeated—
Rain Saved Sox a Drubbing Yesterday.BOXING—SPORTS*LOCALS AND TRIANGLES
STAGE FAST BALL GAMEBy Far the Classiest Game of the Season Was Played on Lima Ball Lot Yesterday—"Our Boys" Lose
Closely Contested Game.

("BY BURB")

Local fans yesterday saw the best game of baseball that has been staged at the Lima ball lot this year when the Dayton Triangles walloped "Our Boys" in a hotly contested struggle by the score of 2 to 1. The game from start to finish was fast played, and until Pierce, batting for Harrison in the ninth frame, took three healthy whiffs at the atmosphere it was anybody's contest.

Wetzel, a forkhander, working for the visitors, had lots of stuff, and with the exception of one inning kept the hits of the locals well scattered. He fooled eight Limaites into fanning, and walked two men. He had lots of speed, and a variety of curves. Owing to his south wing, he kept the home guard hugging first when they did get on.

Davis Good, too

Davis, hurling for the locals, had a hard time finding himself in the opening frame, but after that settled down and pitched a splendid game of ball. He allowed seven safeties, and struck out three men. His generosity was what ruined him. He allowed the visitors five free trips to first base. Whether or not he simply wanted to be generous to company, we'll never know.

Three of these walks were given in the opening inning when the Triangles scored without a hit. Carson, first up walked. Nell filed to Wentz who made a pretty running catch of the ball in left field. Davis then walked Seitz, and Ghiesing slapped one which Malloy was unable to hold and Carson came home. Whalen also was given a pass to first. Lape slapped one to Long who threw home and caught Seitz at the plate. Wentz made another pretty running catch of Shirm's Texas Leaguer.

Lost Best Chances

Both teams then tightened up, and no more runs were made until the locals eased one across in the seventh. Right in this frame they lost the best chance they had to sew the game up, when Wentzel struck out Harrison and Davis with the bases loaded. Mollwitz, the new catcher, started the inning with a hit. Sykes, slapped a single. Mollwitz went to third, and Sykes took second when an attempt was made to get the catcher. Long then slapped out a single scoring Mollwitz. Sykes went to third. Wetzel then hit Malloy with a pitched ball. This crowded the bases. But Harrison and Davis were retired by strike outs.

In the eighth inning the visitors secured their winning run. Seitz, first up, singled. Ghiesing hit to Wentz who threw to Long forcing Seitz. Whalen singled, and Ghiesing went to third. Lape singled and Ghiesing scored, while Whalen took third. Whalen got a few feet off third, and Mollwitz whipped a peg down to Malloy, and Whalen walked to the bench. Shirm filed out to Costello.

Locals Hold 'Em

Dayton had a wonderful opportunity to score in the second, but the local lads tightened up, and played good defensive ball. Herring walked. Wetzel singled, and Herring took second. Davis walked Carson. Nee drove a long fly to Costello, who pegged from deep center and caught Herring at the plate. Seitz then drove the third out to Costello.

Yesterday, Lima by far, played the best game of ball they have staged this season. With the exception of two misplays by Malloy, and one bad throw by Wentz, the game was practically airtight. Egan let a drive get through him in the ninth, but it did not do any damage. Wetzel made a wild pitch which was the only error checked up against the visitors.

Long Hitting Again

Chick Long has regained his batting eye, and yesterday hit for the only extra base secured by either team. He also played fast ball on the defensive. He took five chances without a mistake. Wentz, as usual was the star on the field. This versatile little shortstop covered more ground than the proverbial seven league boots yesterday. He made one or two wonder spears, and gathered in Texas Leaguers in left field. With the stick, he did not make the showing he usually does.

This Dayton aggregation, is by far, the classiest outfit that has shown its wares to local fans thus season, and they were well received. They play clean snappy ball, and are batters from start to finish. They kick little, and play hard.

After the exhibition yesterday, the park is certainly going to be crowded next Sunday when the Triangles play the second game of the "Little World's Series." Yesterday's struggle was the kind the local bugs want. They want something with lots of jazz about it, and they certainly got this from the Triangle gang.

SCOTCH PERCENTAGE

"Speaking about profiteering," said the tall man, "brings to my mind the story of the Scotch shopkeeper, Sandy Macfee, who, while talking to the manager of a Dublin emporium, said:

"Ye'll pardon my askin' ye sir, but what profits can ye mak' in Dublin?"

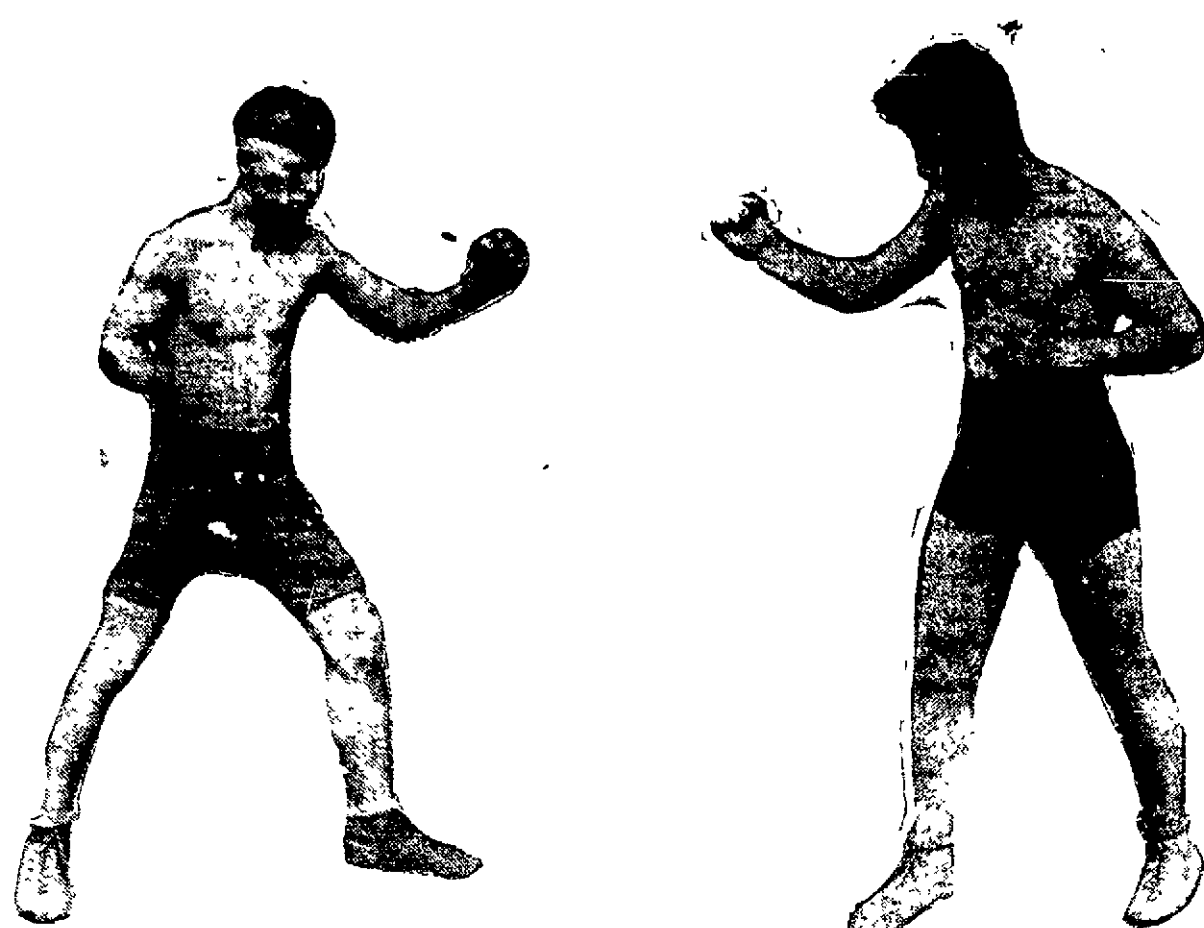

"Oh, as for that," was the reply, "on some articles 5 per cent. on others 10 per cent. and on some 20 per cent."

"Twenty per cent! Man it's 'erul!"

"But don't you?" asked the

LIMA SIGNS
NEW CATCHERMollwitz Signs To Catch for Locals Rest Of Season.

Some time ago Manager Hollaran entered into negotiations with Catcher Henline, a receiver of good repute, and Henline promised to give his services to the locals for the remainder of the season. However, Saturday a communication was received from him to the effect that he has split a finger and will be unable to throw for some weeks. Hollaran sent out the S O S for he had already notified Spicity that his services would not be needed. A line on a catcher by the name of Mollwitz was secured, and after some dickering the Columbus boy was signed. He caught his first game at the local park yesterday, and he caught his way into the hearts of the fans.

He is a handy ball player with a lot of snap. He has a peg in his good right arm which cuts them down on the bags. He caught two men napping off third, and had Wentz been a foot nearer second base a sleeper would have been caught there. They simply have to hug the bases when Mollwitz is catching for he is a wizard on the peg.

He made the only score the locals got yesterday, and hit safely twice. It is understood, Mollwitz will be given a tryout with the Columbus American Association, next season.

Throwing Current Instead of Coal

When Uncle Sam took these three Scranton boys into his army, they were buried at hard work and low wages in the mines. Now, they are fitted for an expert's job and pay in any huge power-house. At Verdun and Chateau Thierry they each lost an arm; but they never lost their nerve and came home smiling, to be physically rebuilt at a base hospital. When they were discharged, it looked like a case of "back to the mines." But the National Catholic War Council is working to fit for a much better job every man who has given of his body to his country; and so they were taken to its Rehabilitation School at the Catholic University near Washington. Skilled vocational experts soon found that these boys had the makings of electrical engineers in them, and they are now headed along electrical lines that promise to reward them far better than coal mining.

RAIN PREVENTS SOX AND REDS FROM PLAYING GAMEWeather Man Must Be From Chicago, For it is Evident
The Sox Were Saved From a Drubbing
by the Reds

(BY JAMES F. BURBA)

It's a two to one bet that the Weather Man is either a resident of Chicago, or has relatives in that city, for yesterday, in order to save the scalps of the Sox players, he communicated with old J. Pluv, who conferred a favor upon him, and upset the sprinkling can, thus placing the "kibosh" on the fifth World's Series contest between the Reds and the Pale Hose. Quite evident, it was timely rain which fell in the Windy City yesterday, for "Dutch" Reuther was slated to mount the box for the Redlegs, and indications were that he would stage a repetition of the first game when he walloped the Sox by the score of 9 to 1.

Thousands of fans all over the United States were disappointed when yesterday's games was called off. All night, fans had stood in line for tickets. A drizzling rain started in about midnight, and as the day lengthened, the downpour became steadier. At 9 o'clock yesterday morning the bosses put their heads together, and gave the sky the once over. After debating for one hour and forty-five minutes it was decided to call the contest off.

Everyone Disappointed

Not only were fans in Chicago disappointed, but hundreds of Lima fans who have begun to crowd the streets in front of The Times Building were also doomed to disappointment. The day being Sunday, and no ball games in sight until after the series, brought hundreds of rapid bugs down to hear the game play by play as called through the megaphone, by a member of The Times sport staff.

Jinx Rings Off

Say, didn't Jimmy Ring chase that jinx of his all over the park at Chicago, Saturday when he allowed the mighty Sox only three measly little hits, and kept them so far apart that no one realized they even got a safety? Turn about is always fair play, so we are told, and Ring certainly turned about and copped a little revenge for the drubbing the Hose handed his teammate, Fisher.

The best part of the whole contest was the fact that the tail of the jinx which has for so long camped upon the trail of Ring has been completely cut off. For the past five games pitched by the right hander, his teammates have been unable to score behind him. He has always pitched sterling ball, but what good is great pitching, if your associates can't put counters across?

Saturday, however, the Reds played real ball behind Ring, and as a result it placed them one game nearer the real rag. That Ring twirled a wonderful game, there is not a doubt. He allowed the Sox a hit in the second inning, the sixth inning and the eighth. In the second frame when two men were on, he deliberately walked Ray Schalk, filling the bases, and Cicotte was easily retired. Never at any other period of the contest were the Reds in any great danger of being scored upon.

Twice For Cicotte

Twice has a certain Frenchman by the name of Cicotte, (pronounce it as you please) been trampled upon by the Romping Reds. After losing the first game of the series to the Reds, Cicotte vehemently proclaimed his ability to stage a comeback and beat the men of Moran in the next game he pitched. He gave his reason for losing the first game because he hit Rath with a pitched ball, which he said unnerved him. We are wondering what his alibi for Saturday's game will be. Naturally, he'll have one.

The star twirler of the Sox certainly has no one to blame for dropping Saturday's contest but himself. He seemed to forget there were eight other men on the team beside himself, and endeavored to play the game alone. He certainly made a bum fender of the affair, and the Reds tender their thanks to the shine ball artist. In that fatal fifth inning Duncan slapped one which would have been pudding for Risberg to have scooped up. Would Mr. Cicotte trust the big Swede? He would not. No sir, Cicotte dived after the ball, and forced it to deviate from its true course.

It would still have been an easy matter for Weaver to have retrieved the pill and in all probability have thrown Duncan out. But again Cicotte interfered, and grabbing the sphere shot it a mile away from Gandil. Kopf then singled to left, and Jackson got the drive threw to the plate to cut off Duncan. Again, Cicotte could not trust the game to his brother players.

Bungles Again

He stepped in and in attempting to take Jackson's heave bungled the affair, and Duncan scored. Then up stepped one Mr. Greasey Neale who connected with one of the Frenchman's offerings for a double scoring Kopf. The game was then put away on ice.

Murphy, who is batting away up among the clouds as a pinch hitter was put in to strike for Cicotte in the ninth. He never made his batting average hitting balls thrown from the trusty hand of Jimmy Ring. Murphy tapped a little line drive which was eaten by the omnivorous Rousch.

Ring only had two strike outs in his favor Saturday, but just look at who they were—the mighty Shoeless Joe, and Gandil. That's worth at least a dozen strikeouts, isn't it?

90,000 EXTRA VOTES for $60 in either NEW or OLD Subscriber's

REMEMBER—This is absolutely the largest offer of the contest, and means that the EXTRA VOTES will be given in addition to the regular scale of votes allowed for carrier and mail subscriptions to The Lima Times. Here is your chance to get in and make the hours count. Set your figure on the highest possible ballot, and don't let up until you have it "CINCHED"

(BY ARNOLD H. PRINE)

It takes a LIVE FISH to swim upstream, any DEAD one can float down.

Which Way Are You Going?

Answer this question and you will know to which class you belong. In every district there is still a chance for some new entrant to advance to the front. Nobody is safe because they lead the list today. Perhaps right now somebody in the back ground is quietly working away, suddenly to appear at the top of the heap while the others thought him safely asleep on the job.

There are several in the contest who will be in far different places from where they now stand in a very short while. The campaign is hardly started, and thousands of votes are being dumped into the ballot box each day. It is a safe bet there will be some big changes in each district. Some candidates are simply running away with the votes and getting many subscriptions that others could just as well have.

Some folks are going to open their eyes and rub 'em and look with wild surprise when the candidates now at the bottom of the list will come to the front with a rush for they will be so far ahead that it will take the hardest kind of plugging to catch up. Certain tail-enders bid fair to spring some big surprises before the campaign is a week older. Get busy right now harder than ever. Let your motto be:

Never be a Quitter

A man dropped into the Campaign Office the other day and said that some "Live Contestant" could enter the campaign right today and run away with the First Grand Prize, and that man was exactly right. No one candidate has so great a start, but what it could be overcome with some systematic work. It is not too late to enter the big campaign, and make a winning run, for with the present vote offer in effect, it will be possible for any contestant to gather together hundreds of thousands of votes for a stipulated amount in subscriptions. Go after the 15,000, the 40,000, the 65,000 and the 90,000 Bonus Ballot, and don't let up a single day until you get it.

Dolphos, Spencerville, West Cairo, Elda, Lafayette, Beaverdam, Bluffton, Columbus Grove, Ottawa, Wapakoneta, St. Marys, Celina, Waynesfield, Huntsville, Uniontown, Harrod, Ada, Alger, Gomer, Vaughnsville, Kalida, Continental, Middletown and Ilumo, as well as Lima, have wide awake contestants who are making plans to come in with a rush and it is a safe bet right now that before the campaign is many days older some big surprises are in store for the reader of The Times.

This is everybody's campaign right now, no one has the prize "cinched" now, and the prizes will go to those having the greatest number of votes, that will mean the candidate who digs in the hardest between now and the close, and especially during the present vote offer.

Let nothing interfere with your securing the bonus ballot offered next Thursday. Remember that either new or old subscriptions will count on this offer, and make the hours count high during the next few days. Be sure to have a report to make next Thursday. If you get a bonus ballot, or not, let us hear from you. The writer is anxious to aid and assist all those interested, and can know whether you are working only if you let him know.

GERMANY IS SWEEP BY AN INCREASING WAVE OF CRIME

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
BERLIN.—Germany has increasingly taken to crime since the revolution, and the once orderly empire, where pickpockets were almost unknown and hideouts and robberies created a sensation, is undergoing an epidemic of crime. Probably no system has proved more effective than, in these days of uncertainty and change, playing the official or impersonating a soldier, or a policeman.

Recently two clever criminals who discovered that a certain man had embezzled in his house 115 thousand and marked notes of the old type and liable to confiscation had frightened him into surrendering the money on the promise of escaping prosecution.

A real official, who had nosed out the plot, entered just in time to see the transfer of the money and really did confiscate it, besides arresting the three men.

More successful was another false official scheme. Here a group succeeded in inducing a man who had hoarded thousands of marks, to sell them at a handsome profit. The deal was in progress when fellow conspirators, posed as officials, appeared, confiscated the money and robbed the owner.

An airplane was used to capture criminals when the authorities got wind recently of an attempt to carry 20,000,000 marks on an express train to Munich whence they were to be smuggled across the Swiss border.

Robberies at railroad stations from freight cars have been increasing to a great extent. Countless cases of false papers for the delivery of goods have been discovered, usually after it was too late.

The discovery of two freight car loads of bacon lying on a siding at a suburban station led to the discovery of a huge swindle originating in Holland, and making use of false bills of lading. Many railroad men were involved in a small way for their share in handling the faked bills of lading.

The constant swindling extends to every imaginable kind of food and raw material. A young man appeared recently at a storehouse in central Berlin and asked to have some cases stored. When the warehouse watchman saw the cases he was suspicious because they came from the imperial textile plant at Zwickau. So he reported the presence of the cases. Investigation showed 5,000 yards of textiles worth 120,000 marks and the young man was captured by a tutor. He had procured the cloth on a forged order bearing the signature of the textile authorities.

SPECULATION EVIL AFFECTS GERMANS PRESS COMPLAINS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

COBLENZ.—More insistent protests than ever before against government food control, the host of food profiteers and food brokers and the ever increasing speculation in foreign exchange now fill the columns of the food journals and farm magazines of Germany.

Food prices continue very high. This is attributed partly to the low valuation of the mark. The official exchange rate for the mark for September at headquarters of the American Forces in Germany was 22 marks to the dollar.

Since Germany resumed commercial relations with the outside world, she has been able to import only meagre quantities of necessary and staple foodstuffs, with the exception of fish and milk, the food journals say. There has been a good crop of fruits and vegetables throughout Germany. Livestock is reported to be about twenty percent below normal with little prospect of enough food to stimulate breeding except possibly of hogs.

COVER CROP IN CORN

LAND GAINING FAVOR

The sowing of a cover crop of rye and vetch on corn land to be replanted to corn is being done this fall more than ever, particularly in the rolling and hilly sections of Ohio. The seed for this crop may be sown as soon as the corn is cut. A satisfactory mixture consists of five pecks of rye and two pecks of vetch, sown the same as wheat at the rate of six pecks to the acre.

While the price of vetch seed is pretty high, enough seed will be produced on a small acreage in one season to enable the farmer to employ this practice on a more extensive scale the following year, with a relatively small outlay. If the crop is allowed to mature, if the 20 bushels per acre of the mixture can be obtained. The vetch should be inoculated if sown on ground on which it has not been grown before. The cover crop not only prevents washing but adds nitrogen and organic matter to the soil and may be pastured in the spring.

Globe Combination Ranges and Hot Blast Heaters

It is with pleasure that we greet the opening of the stove season for never has any store been in a better position to cope with stove problems than we are right now. Our contracts for this season's stoves were signed last year. The stoves that we offer now are based upon stove costs in September, 1918.

We have just received a carload of stoves and ranges, of which a few are on display in the Basement. If you are going to buy a stove compare the GLOBE line of stoves with any other line, and then you will understand what we mean when we say that the GLOBE is the best stove on the market. This fact, together with our method of doing business, will enable you to save considerable on that new stove.

Globe Combination Ranges

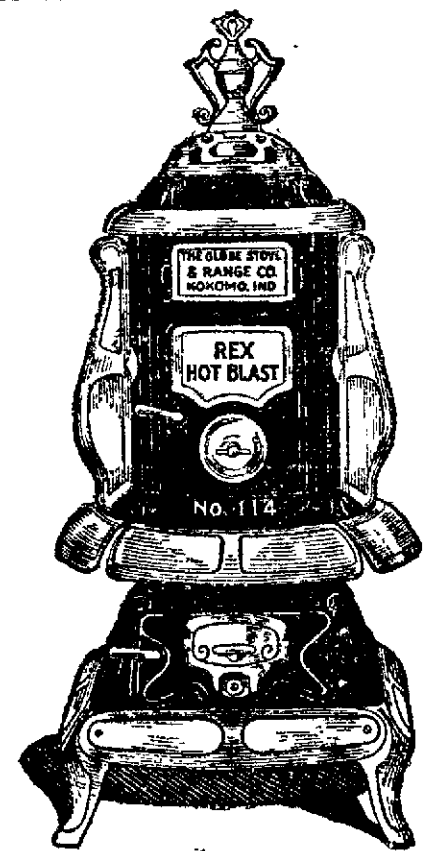

The GLOBE combination range is of extra heavy cast iron construction, electric welded oven, hand fitted draft controls which insures absolute control of the fire at all times, hot blast fire box which prolongs the life of the grate and lining, an extra large heating space around the oven which insures uniform heat. The heavy casting used in this range holds the heat—you can do a big baking using very little fuel. The gas burner in the oven is of rigid construction—there are no lids, flame deflectors or contrivances of any kind to give trouble—turn on the gas and you have a gas range, turn off the gas and you have a coal range. The top of the range has four gas and four coal lids, white enameled warming closet that is fully unlocked. The ranges are finished in polished tops, nickel trimmed and in black tops, white enamel trimmed. With the present unsettled conditions in the steel industry it would be select your range now. If you are not ready to use it now we will hold it for you upon the payment of a small deposit.

The Heating Question

The heating question is easily solved whether you have only one room or eight as the GLOBE line includes a size for every purpose. The latest development in hot blast construction, burning slack or run of mine coal as easily as lump coal or coke, is the big feature of every size from the 14 size GLOBE OAKLET to the big 18 inch fire pot in the NEW GLOBE HOT BLAST.

Every door and damper on the GLOBE is fitted by hand, making it possible to have control of the fire at all times. The grates, fire pots, ash pits, etc., are made of heavy cast iron that is heat holding and rust resisting—a stove that will give years of satisfactory service with so small a coal consumption that it will surprise you.

The GLOBE has always made friends wherever it has been used because it makes the long winter days and evenings warm and cozy. We would be pleased to have you look over our line of heaters and compare prices with any stove of similar quality. Early selections are most advisable as the stoves we buy after our present stock is sold will be higher in price with no assurance from the manufacturer that he will be able to ship us any stoves at any price. Make your selection now—a small deposit will hold your stove until you are ready to use it.
